DOMESTIC LEGISLATION.
THE PREMIER recently told the people that domestic legislation was the order of the day, and he said next session would be devoted to that end. We are with Mr. REID on this matter, and trust no untoward event—and no one knows how the POLITICAL CAT may jump—may happen to prevent the HONORABLE GENTLEMAN keeping his promise.
WHAT IS
DOMESTIC LEGISLATION?
Ask Mr. REID, and he'll tell you his view of the matter. Ask ANTHONY HORDERN'S, and they'll give you theirs. Who has
THE SPEAKER'S EYE?
Mr. Reid or Anthony Hordern's? Thank you, Sir, we shall not tire the House by long speeches or useless reiteration. ("Hear, hear.")
THE REALITY OF
ANTHONY HORDERN'S
IS ALREADY ADMITTED.
Its effect upon the country is not denied, and its tendency to improve the condition of the people is a matter of popular belief. It has increased the purchasing power of money, and made the land flow with MILK and HONEY. It provides cheap means of living, and a full cupboard for many a one who, but for it, would be half starved and inadequately clad. It turns pennies into pounds, and makes a moderate competence a princely income. It helps the people to save money and buy houses; and anybody, however poor, who properly follows its teachings may hold
THE SPECTRE POVERTY
at arm's length. Among other things it provides HIGH-CLASS CLOTHING
at such low prices as enable every man and boy in the community to dress well and have something to spare. Here you are:—
WORSTED CLOTH SUITS.
WINTER WEIGHT.
Made of pure wool, dark and medium shades. The cloth is guaranteed thoroughly shrunk, and can be relied on to do the wearer splendid service. It is needless to say the workmanship and finish are of the best, and it may be a surprise to hear that the price is only 15s.
HERE IS ANOTHER:
SAC SUITS,
made of Fox's celebrated Navy Worsted, Fast Dye, Pure Wool, and thoroughly shrunk. This is an excellent suit for WINTER WEAR, and bear in mind that the winter is close upon us. The Price, 35s for all sizes.
efforts in the good cause of cheapening everyday lines embrace the entire programme of manufactured articles. Here is another useful line, which, now that COLD NIGHTS are imminent, will be very welcome.
PYJAMA SUITS
FOR WINTER WEAR.
Flannelette, 3s; heavy weight Flannelette, 4s 3d; Union, 7s 6d, 8s 6d; Crimean All Wool, 10s; Unshrinkable Crimean, 12s; Flannel, thoroughly shrunk, 13s 6d; and many others, in both light and dark patterns. In sizes from 30 to 50 inches chest measurement.
DOMESTIC LEGISLATION.
No scheme is complete that doesn't include a reduction in the PRICE OF BOOTS. To the poor man with a large family—and the POORER THE MAN THE LARGER THE FAMILY is the general rule—the question of the COST of BOOTS is an important one. The BOOTS for the family must be cheap and good. If they are CHEAP AND NASTY the wearers suffer; if they are NOT CHEAP it's often a case of going without. THE BOOTS for the poor man's family must therefore be CHEAP AND GOOD. There must be no nonsense about them; nothing but HONEST LEATHER.

It is needless to say that although 14 months only have elapsed since the inauguration of this wonderful institution, the business has increased 20 fold.
The Leading Feature of the MISFIT PARLOUR is the Shopping by Post System.
Anyone throughout the length and breadth of Australasia can secure the Bargains at the same price as those who reside in Sydney, everything being marked through the Establishment in Plain Figures, and as I undertake to DELIVER FREE throughout N. S. Wales, by rail or boat, it is no wonder Hundreds of Bales are weekly despatched.
Queensland, Western Australian, and New Zealand orders are continually coming to hand, with satisfactory and Beneficial Results to the Sender.
Thousands of unsolicited letters can be perused at my Counting-house from Customers who were staggered at the Bargains found in my £2 and £1 Bales.
As so much Fraud has been enacted in the past by UNSCRUPULOUS PEOPLE sending Rubbish, the public are therefore delighted in finding a man like NATHAN HERMAN, who is always at his post in his Warehouse, and who personally inspects every parcel that leaves his wonderful growing Establishment. Good results have in consequence followed, and his efforts are now being rewarded.
ROME was not BUILT in a DAY, and the MISFIT PARLOUR is only in its infancy, and as similar Establishments throughout the world have grown from Barns to BLOCKS and SQUARES, WHO THEREFORE dares to prognosticate that my MISFIT PARLOUR will not some day ASSUME LIKE PROPORTIONS?

AMUSEMENTS.

CRITERION.—"THOROUGHBRED."

An irresponsibly light-hearted entertainment was provided by the Brough-Boucicault Comedy Company, on Saturday, by the production of Ralph Lumley's "Thoroughbred." On London programmes the author drew some kind of fine distinction, by describing his piece as "a comic play." At the Criterion it is frankly classified as "a farce"—"and a merry one too, at that," will probably be the verdict of hilarious playgoers during the week. To differentiate it from other laughable plays founded on the escapades of a timid little man in awe of a gigantic wife, the three acts are all in the open air—a farcical comedy without "interiors" is a rara avis, the fun is punctuated with song and dance, and there are charming comedy touches running through the love-scenes between the Hon. Wilhelmina Carlingham and her American suitor, which only a man of talent could put in.

Mr. Robert Brough made a great hit in his new part as John Rimple, the vulgar, good-hearted Mayor of Upcomb, who purchases young Carlingham's horse at auction, by giving him a blank cheque to fill in. The simple Mayor explains that he doesn't want a nag—he has half-a-dozen with his wife every day—but is delighted to oblige his young friend. On learning that his "nag" was knocked down to him at £2500, however, the Mayor nearly faints with disgust, crying that for the same sum he "might have bought a circus!" Mr. Brough's expression of horror at this point convulsed the audience, and in later scenes his appearance in extravagantly "horsey" attire, in which he is detected by his wife, and his ready allusions to "off 'ind 'ocks" caused renewed laughter. The value of Miss Watt-Tanner's assistance in this piece as Mrs. Rimple cannot be overrated. The actress played with a great air of nature, as the handsome, hot-tempered woman who rules her Rimple with a rod of iron. She was, indeed, terrible in her wrath in the scene in which Mrs. Rimple recognises her moiety in top boots. Mr Titheradge, except for occasional "first night relapses" into English, played perfectly the part of A. M. Decker, a well-bred American millionaire, who thought himself a regular Britisher, on the strength of "lessons in your high-toned accent from a lady of title in reduced circumstances." The love scenes, with the Hon. Wilhelmina Carlingham, who remarked "that most families in England who are worth anything are worth—nothing," were prettily rendered with Miss Faber. Miss Faber may thus be congratulated upon success in a part supposed to be a little out of her line, as the high-spirited, impetuous Wilhelmina. The character was played in London by Miss Henrietta Watson.

The musical numbers and dances "caught on" at once, and were indiscriminately encored. Miss Katherine Hardy, who acted brightly as Delia Rimple, sang with taste and charming vocal quality a lullaby, to which the other principals supplied an accompaniment à bouches fermées. An unaccompanied quartet by Mr. Boucicault (the boyish Blenkinsopp Carlingham of the cast), Misses Temple, Faber, and Hardy was also encored, and a fantastic dance which followed was capitally carried out, with Miss Temple as leader, and Mr. Boucicault's droll grace to give piquancy to the whole figure. Laughter was at its height in the last act, where Messrs. Brough, Boucicault, and Carey appeared in the outrageous attire of the nigger minstrels who haunt the sands of Ramsgate and Brighton in the old country, and kept up the fun in a further musical scene. Mr. Carey, it should be added, gave a life-like sketch of Jeb Tosh, a broken-down "booky" who had been "welched through a misunderstanding;" and Mr. Dorrington was well placed as the ineffable Claude Nizril. Nizril was a Superior Person (and poet), who displayed a recondite wit in such sayings as "a matrimonial engagement is the bank holiday of passion"—an allusion to his own superfine repugnance to anything so common as the marriage state. Mr. Orlando Daly, a new member of the company who has gifts for comedy, gave a decidedly promising, though immature, study of the part of Lord Sandacre. The piece was prettily staged, and Mr. Diederichsen's new music possessed the necessary gaiety. The reception of "Thoroughbred" was remarkably cordial.

THEATRE ROYAL—"SAVED FROM THE SEA."

Mr. Bland Holt's dramatic season at the Theatre Royal appears to have given the greatest satisfaction to a very large section of playgoers, and on Saturday night a splendid house was present to witness the production of "Saved from the Sea." This is a sensational melodrama of the kind now so popular—with any amount of incident and action, full of change and variety, a fairly interesting plot, and ample scope for scenic display. To those who know Mr. Holt's ability for contriving elaborate mechanical effects and picturesque display it is almost superfluous to say that the very utmost was made where such openings occur in "Saved from the Sea." One particularly clever piece of work of this kind was that where the hero and heroine embark in a small boat. The appearance of a wave-tossed sea is reproduced on the stage with admirable verisimilitude, and when the boat is blown up through the machinations of the villain, the man and woman struggling in the heaving waters are capitally represented. How it is done probably only Mr. Holt and his clever assistants know, but the effect is really astonishing in its vividness and realism, and brought forth the warmest acknowledgments. Another very realistic, if somewhat horrible, scene is presented when the hero—wrongfully convicted, of course—is about to die for the murder that he has not committed. On the scaffold the rope breaks three times—an incident that is said to have been taken from real life—and finally the hero is reprieved. The destruction of the bridge is yet another startling effect put upon the stage with the very greatest "actuality," and the escape of the hero from the quarries is contrived with all that accompaniment of excitement and bustle which are indispensable in episodes of this kind if they are to be made thoroughly effective. Mr. Spong, too, has done some capital work, and one is delighted to observe that he has been given one or two opportunities to paint rustic scenes, in which department of stage work he has probably no equal, and certainly no superior.

As the heroine, Nancy Ellington, Miss Elizabeth Watson had the most exacting part to sustain. She acquitted herself admirably, and in the scenes where strong dramatic interpretation is demanded she was thoroughly successful in striking the proper key of impressive emotion. Mr. Bland Holt, who has made the sort of character part like Billy Brown a study, won great favour at once by his representation of the shrewd light-hearted youth. His songs and comic interpolation provided an agreeable "relief" to the heavier side of the drama, and whenever Billy Brown was on the stage the audience found itself in high good humour. Mr. Baker made a manly hero, strong, vigorous, and simple. Mrs. Bland Holt as the pretty, pert, and piquant Polly Blake was fitted with a most congenial part, and played it most attractively. Mr. Cosgrove dies in due course, but not till he has made a great impression on the audience by his strong impersonation of the part of Jim Weaver. The rest of the parts were suitably filled, and the numerous auxiliaries who were on the stage at different times had been capitally trained and did not a little to aid the success of the evening. "Saved from the Sea," which was received with great favour, will be repeated nightly till further notice.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE—"IN THE QUEEN'S NAME."

On Saturday evening the company playing under the management of Mr. Alfred Woods at Her Majesty's Theatre produced for the first time in Australia a piece written by Mr. Fred. Elliott and entitled "In the Queen's Name." The audience which was fairly numerous, seemed to take kindly to the play, although it did not present any features of great novelty or startling interest; but, as it proceeded, developed a series of strange alternations between boisterous comedy and tragedy of the most dismal description. Its plot is a bold venture upon the regions of the improbable. A superintendent of police learns that his daughter has clandestinely married the son of his bitterest enemy—the man who had years before ruined his wife. Next he finds that his son, always a hopeless ne'er-do-well, has got into further trouble, which culminates in the son murdering a gambler to whom he owes money. The superintendent at first believes that the murder was committed by the detested man who has married his daughter, and he succeeds in having him convicted of the crime. The harrowing spectacle is then presented of the father learning that the murder was committed by his son and not by his son-in-law. Love for the former and hatred for the latter tie his tongue, and he declines to speak the words which would alter the fates of both, and things proceed until the son-in-law stands upon the drop. But there his share in the tragedy ends, and the man actually guilty comes in for the reward of his demerits. A scheme such as this would give opportunity in any play for a good deal of hysteria, but the company do not avail themselves of all their chances to be thrilling. There is a vein of rollicking Irish humour running through all this woefulness, and Mr. Harry Leston, who played as Larry Malone, was most acceptable. Miss Lilla Wilde, who as Kitty Meredith had a part of many phases, was excellently suited. As the hero George Gray, Mr. Alfred Woods has a heavy task laid upon him, but he acquitted himself most creditably. Mr. Robert Inman's performance of the part of Fred. Harman was a most creditable piece of acting. The character is a thankless one, for it is not to be expected that so degraded a villain could be popular with any audience, yet Mr. Inman invested it with such a degree of interest that his efforts could not fail to win admiration. The remaining characters were also satisfactorily impersonated.

LYCEUM.—"DJIN-DJIN."

There was a great audience at the Saturday matinee of "Djin-Djin," the announced withdrawal of the piece on the 15th May in favour of "Trilby" pointing to the probability that but one more afternoon performance of the popular extravaganza would be given. In the evening the piece again drew a large audience, and the new Banvard trapeze act, the added songs by Messrs. Elton and Coleman, and the success of Miss Florence Young in "The Sunshine of Paradise Alley," all elicited renewed enthusiasm.

GAIETY.—"H.M.S. PINAFORE."

The second and final performance of "H.M.S. Pinafore," under the auspices of the North Sydney Orphans, was given at the Gaiety Theatre on Saturday night. It was fortunate for the success of the evening that the merits of Wednesday's performance were so generally recognised, since the expected co-operation of the North Shore Friendly Societies was not forthcoming—a circumstance for which the hon. secretaries of the movement in aid of the North Shore Hospital were quite unable to account. It is considered certain that at least £100 net will be realised by the two performances.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

A capital programme was opened on Saturday night at the Tivoli by a well-arranged and spirited scene entitled "Les Vivandiere." The house, as usual, was filled in every part. Mr. Harry Rickards was well received. His new coster song, "I'm Blowed if 'E can Call 'isself 'is Own," was a pronounced success, and was rendered in Mr. Rickards's best style. Miss Alice Leamar, whose last four nights are announced, danced and sang with energy and charm. Messrs. Faning, York, Queen, and Copeland attended to the burnt-cork side of the performance with evident satisfaction to the spectators, and the other contributors to the programme were all successful.

TOWN HALL RECITALS.

The City Organist opened his recital on Saturday with the performance of Handel's "Dead March in Saul," played in memory of Sir Henry Parkes. The audience stood during the solemn rendering of the funeral march. The other items on the programme were received with much applause. On Wednesday the City Organist will give (by request an operatic recital.

THE BOARDING-OUT SYSTEM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—You have published two letters this week signed respectively "Reformer" and "Observer," both condemnatory of the boarding-out system, which are founded upon statements that are inaccurate and statistics that are incorrect. So much publicity has been given to the principles and details of the system as carried out in this colony during the past 15 years, and such free criticism has been invited and bestowed upon it in the press and in Parliament, that I did not think any intelligent, educated person could at this late period be in such utter ignorance of the prime conditions observed with regard to our national policy of dealing with dependent children as "Reformer" has given evidence of. There cannot either be any excuse for his misstatements, seeing that accurate information might have been at once obtained in reply to simple questions, and that it could be checked at any time from official records. Briefly, this writer condemns the system because, as he says, children are assigned to very poor people who apply for them as a means of living; that the amount paid for them is not sufficient; that the guardians are unsuitable from a moral point of view; and that destitute children are refused relief unless parents surrender them to the State.

The majority of your readers will, doubtless, not be surprised to learn that not one of these alleged objectionable conditions exists;—that the children are not placed with strangers who have not other ascertained sufficient means of livelihood; that the minimum sum fixed for maintenance is the best safeguard against the children being obtained solely for purposes of profit; that due care is taken that they attend church, and Sunday school; and that respectable parents may have their children returned at any time, and are afforded every facility for seeing them as frequently as possible. "Reformer's" objections, being groundless, are thus easily disposed of; but I invite him in a friendly spirit to select any boarding-out district haphazard, and accompany an inspector from the department on an unannounced visit to the homes. If his observations do not make him an enthusiastic convert I shall be much surprised, as that has invariably been the result whenever this practical method of testing the system has been resorted to. "Reformer" is honest enough to say that the management of the system is as good as possible; and for that frank and true admission I thank him. He has also quoted my remark at the recent meeting at the Town Hall that "our boarding-out system is the finest in the world." I wish to emphasise that opinion here, and I may say that it has been fully endorsed by the visiting experts from abroad who have witnessed its operation in various parts of this colony. As far back as 1886 the Rev. W. J. Horsley, a gentleman conversant with the subject, and a high authority on philanthropic movements in England, wrote publicly—"In this matter the mother country has need to follow and learn where she should have led and taught." When in England recently I verified this statement, although since its publication the boarding-out system has made rapid strides in the United Kingdom and America, and both the nations are gradually, but surely, making it their national policy of providing for the children of the State.

"Observer" touches another point which is of some importance. He alleges that one result of the boarding-out system has been to increase the number of children supported by the Government during the past 10 years out of all proportion to the increase of the general population; but he has been misled, and has misled the public, by confusing the apprentices who are not paid for with the boarded-out children who are. Thus, he has stated in 1885 there were 1363 children under control, with a population of 940,000, or a proportion of ·14 to the whole population, and that at the end of 1894 the number had swelled to "3642, with a population of 1,251,450, or a population ratio of ·29," or that "in 10 years the proportion had more than doubled itself." The facts are that in the public institutions and boarding-out department in 1885 the children paid for by the Government numbered 2053, the proportion to population therefore being ·218, and that in 1891 this class of children numbered 2710, or a proportion of ·216, the result thus being that the proportion in 1894 was almost imperceptibly reduced. It should also be noted in this connection that the year 1894 was after the great wave of depression had passed over New South Wales, and that the year 1885 was the period at which the colony was probably enjoying its highest tide of prosperity. "Observer" has really fallen into the error of quoting only the children under the State Children's Relief Department in the first period, and excluding the Government children at Randwick Asylum and the sectarian orphanages, which are now defunct; while in the second period he has included nearly 1000 State apprentices who are earning their own livelihood.

That at times complaints are made, and mistakes occur, is inevitable under any system, but the endeavour by the State Children's Relief Board has been to prevent and remedy all such occurrences. One great test of the value of the system must be apparent to every member of the community:—although such a large number of children are placed in families all over the colonies, they are so woven into the common life of our people that they cannot be identified as State dependents; and they have no distinguishing mark by which the ordinary observer can recognise them.

I think, sir, it would be superfluous for me to enter into any further defence of the boarding-out system here, as almost everyone knows all about it. Its work is scattered all over the colonies, and is so open to the light of day, and so surrounded by safeguards, that the abuses in connection with it cannot be numerous, else they would be known to the Department, or ventilated through the press. I know I am credited with having done good work in regard to the charitable institutions of this country, but there is nothing of which I am so proud in this particular as my fostering care of the system which has brought to the helpless children of the community the advantages of family life and home training as a substitute for the barrack system, which was for so long our national policy of dealing with them. I do not point to the fact that by this system, it has been estimated, that more than £100,000 has been saved to the State, which must necessarily have been expended had the old condition of Barrack treatment been continued, because I think the social, moral, and religious effects of the boarding-out system far outweigh any pecuniary consideration.

In conclusion, I may state that no one is more anxious for honest criticism than I am, but such criticism should be honest and open, and if your correspondents will give me their names, I am sure I can convince them that in their present views they are labouring under either mistaken or prejudiced information.

I am, &c.,
ARTHUR RENWICK.

WORKING AND FACTORY GIRLS' CLUB BALL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—On Monday evening will take place, under the patronage of his Excellency the Governor and the Viscountess Hampden, and in the presence of the latter, the annual ball in aid of the Working and Factory Girls' Club, and it is to be hoped that the public will aid generously this good work by attending in large numbers.

The work of this club has been much misrepresented and spoken against by prejudiced people, who have neither taken the trouble to visit it nor to inquire into its working. It would take up too much space to enter into a lengthened description of the work sought to be done there on the present occasion. Suffice it to say that it was established with the object of providing a place where young girls working in factories and elsewhere during the day could spend a pleasant and profitable evening—where they could enjoy a little music, and even at times a little dancing among themselves—without resorting to places of questionable character; where they could be taught to make their own clothes and other useful domestic arts, and also where on one evening in the week—and that we have found often almost the best attended—service is conducted in the clubroom by one of the Church of England clergymen who feels interested in the work which is being carried on among these poor girls, whose homes are often such as would make those who accuse the ladies who so unselfishly give up their time evening after evening to working among them of enticing young girls away from their homes in the evening shudder with horror to think of young creatures growing up amid such surroundings. Sir, I have seen some of these homes, so called, and know of what I am writing. Charity balls in these days have become so numerous and incessant that we often hear people say they are a positive nuisance. Well, so they may be; but, unfortunately, they appear to be in the present day the only means by which money can be raised to carry on the many charities of Sydney. "People will have something for their money" you constantly hear said. How about that verse in the Bible which says, "Thou shalt not offer unto the Lord of that which costeth thee nothing?" Let me, therefore, earnestly urge those who do disapprove of this means of supporting our charities, and who do not attend balls, not to let these charities suffer through this disapproval, but to send the price of the ball ticket, 10s, or even less, to one of the treasurers of the club—the Hon. Mr. Justice Stephen, Supreme Court, is one—and so help this most deserving effort to bring some brightness into the lives of those whose "lines are cast" in very dismal places, and at the same time help to support our work in the way in which we should so much prefer to see it done—by voluntary subscriptions.

I am, &c.,
LUCY F. DARLEY,
President W. and F. G. Club.

LAWN TENNIS.

INTERCOLONIAL TOURNAMENT.

The annual intercolonial tournament was begun on Saturday at the Sydney Cricket Ground under favourable conditions. The weather was all that could be desired, and a large attendance of spectators watched the matches with interest. A punctual start was made at 11.15, when Kidston met Brookes, and by strong play easily proved himself the better man. Gaden, who was playing well, rendered a good account of Chomley, whom he beat three sets straight, although the Victorian looked like winning the last set, as he held a lead of 5-3, but the New South Wales representative proved too strong, and took the set to five games. Rice, who was in fine form, beat Diddams in an easy manner, his side-line strokes being too effective for his antagonist, who, however, plays a good game, especially on the volley. Windeyer, the Goulburn player, beat Barnard by two sets to one, his volleying being particularly severe. Barnard played well in the first set, but fell away later on. Crossman was in fine form against Fraser, whom he beat three sets to five games, his passing strokes being particularly effective, while Fraser was finding the net a great deal on his return from the service. He has, however, abandoned the idea of running in to the net on every stroke, and his tennis has improved by the change. Dewhurst beat Dunlop easily, which is to be accounted for by the fact that the Victorian champion is recovering from an attack of influenza. However, the Sydney Club captain played a powerful game and had a lot in hand all through. Gaden, continuing his morning form, beat Brookes easily, and made some very effective strokes. Kidston beat Chomley, and secured his six sets by consistent and accurate play, passing and tossing very effectively at times. Rice beat Barnard after a good game, in which the Victorian nearly scored a set; but the New South Wales player was too consistent, and pulled off all the sets. Windeyer and Diddams showed some fine volleying, some of the rallies being very fast and brilliant, and producing a good deal of applause. The Goulburn player was, however, not to be denied, and carried off all three sets. Fraser, whose form had improved, played a good match with Dewhurst, some fast and brilliant play being shown on both sides. The first set appeared likely to fall to Victoria, as Fraser had a lead of five games to three. However, the New South Wales player took the next three games and the set after some fine strokes. Fraser volleyed well, but his forehand stroke was striking the net frequently, and the back court play of his opponent was too strong. This was the best match of the day. Dunlop against Crossman bid fair to be a fine match, as the two men are the present holders of the championships of their respective colonies. The Victorian soon took the lead, and playing finely and with excellent judgment took the first set to two games. From this point, however, he seemed to tire, and Crossman coming on fast secured the next set to four games. Dunlop being too exhausted to continue forfeited the last set. It is to be hoped that his health will improve during the next few days, as he is a player of great merit.

The total result was a most decisive win for New South Wales, on the single play the number of sets being—Victoria, 2 sets; New South Wales, 34 sets; but the visiting team has been materially weakened by the inability of Green, Kearney, Waters, and Irving to cross the border. Still the all-round play of the home colony is a trifle superior to that of Victoria at present. Fraser and Barnard showed best form of the visitors, while Windeyer, Rice, and Dewhurst, played best for New South Wales. In the match against Queensland the second team proved themselves strong enough to gain a long lead, their play all round being of a consistent order. The visitors are to be congratulated on their form considering the limited amount of experience at their disposal, as the game is comparatively speaking in its infancy in Queensland. For the New South Wales players Curtiss showed his fine volleying capabilities, while Gilligan and Henzell both played brilliantly at times. Appended are the scores:—

The visiting teams were entertained at luncheon by the Lawn Tennis Association, and their healths cordially drunk, and responded to by the various captains. In the evening they were present by invitation at the organ recital in the Town Hall, and yesterday were taken round the harbour in a steam launch. The New Zealand contingent arrived last night, and were met and welcomed on the wharf by the representatives of the Sydney Lawn Tennis Club. They will practice to-day on the ground, where a special court has been set apart for their use. Miss Nunnelly, who has also come over from New Zealand, brings a great reputation, and her play will be watched with keen interest by all enthusiasts, as she has defeated Miss Jackson and Mrs. Hilliard, whose names are so well known to followers of the game in England. A large entry has been received for the open events, and some fine exhibitions of the game should be seen when so many champions meet. The names of the New Zealand visitors are as follows:—Hooper, Gore, Collins, and Parker (champion), and Miss Nunnelly.

To-day the intercolonial matches will be concluded, the play being composed of doubles against Victoria and singles against Queensland, and some good play should be seen as the Victorians are noted for their play in doubles. The following is the draw for the day:—

The Sydney Morning Herald.

MONDAY, MAY 4, 1896.

His Excellency the Governor and party arrived at Glen Innes on Saturday, and received a very hearty welcome.

As the Shah of Persia was entering the Azim Mosque, he was shot by a mollah, and died two hours afterwards.

The murderer was a member of a secret organisation.

The wooden ship Ellen A. Read left Newcastle on Thursday with a cargo of 2000 tons of coal, and when 140 miles off the coast on Friday morning it was discovered that the cargo was on fire.

She put back, and was towed into Sydney yesterday morning, and beached at Double Bay.

Her deck was almost burnt through, and it was found that the upper portion of the cargo had been converted into coke by the intense heat.

Early yesterday morning a fire broke out between decks on the steel four-masted ship Rosshire, lying at the Grafton Wharf.

She was wheat-laden from San Francisco.

The outbreak was extinguished without much damage having been done to the cargo.

Several leading newspapers of France fear that if the members of the Johannesburg Reform Committee are banished from the Transvaal it will seriously damage the Rand.

Fearing that they would be replaced by Germans to the injury of French holders, the journals urge the Minister for Foreign Affairs to advise President Kruger on the subject.

In the House of Lords, on Friday, Lord Loch, formerly Governor of Cape Colony, made an explanation relative to the disclosures on the trial of the Reform Committee at Pretoria.

He stated that he was urgently requested by the residents of Johannesburg to visit the Rand, as they believed they were labouring under a number of grievances which required redress.

Fearing that an outbreak would ensue, President Kruger dissuaded him from visiting the town, but he went to Pretoria, and there received a deputation, to whom he pointed out the futility of any attempt to foment a rising with only 1000 rifles.

He did not at any time offer to assist in the movement, and such a statement was without foundation.

The London newspapers express the opinion that Lord Loch's explanation may be accepted as correct.

The interdict which was placed by the Transvaal Executive upon the property of members of the Reform Committee has been removed, except as regards that of Messrs. Lenoard and Wolff.

It is stated that the Hollander section of the Transvaal Republic and the doppers, are averse to any more leniency being shown in regard to the sentences.

Captain Lothaire, a Belgian official of the Congo Free State, West Africa, has been acquitted of the charge of hanging Mr. Stokes, an English trader, who was executed by his orders for selling arms and ammunition to the slave traders.

Matabele are trying to intercept the relief columns which are on the way from Mafeking and Fort Salisbury to Buluwayo.

On Friday evening the Australian cricketers were entertained at dinner by the Surrey Cricket Club.

A body of about 300 dervishes has been routed by a British force near Akashah.

As the result of the resignation of Sir J. Mackenzie Bowell, the Canadian Cabinet has been reconstructed.

Professor Geffcken has been killed by the explosion of a petroleum lamp.

Mr. Pirie (Liberal) has been elected to represent Aberdeen City (North) in the House of Commons, vice Mr. W. A. Hunter (Liberal), resigned.

The bill introduced into the House of Commons for the relief of the agricultural classes by reduction in the rates has been read the second time by a majority of 117.

An amendment had previously been agreed to limiting the operations of the bill to five years.

Sir Saul Samuel has requested Mr. Chamberlain to use his influence with the Treasury to induce it to abandon the claim for income tax upon income which has already been taxed in the colonies. Sir Saul is hopeful of success.

Forty of the men entombed in the Micklefield Colliery, Yorkshire, where a disastrous explosion had occurred, have been rescued.

There is no hope of saving the others.

Mr. G. H. Reid, the Premier, returned to Sydney by the Melbourne express on Saturday from his visit to Broken Hill.

Mr. Sydney Smith, Minister for Mines and Agriculture, reached Melbourne on Saturday en route to Adelaide, to attend the conference of Ministers of Agriculture.

He discussed with the Victorian Minister for Mines the question of the two colonies sharing the expense of prospecting for gold on either side of the border line from Cape Howe to the Australian Alps.

Mr. Smith expressed the opinion that the expenditure would be justified, and promised to urge the New South Wales Government to co-operate in the matter.

On Saturday the Premier of Victoria despatched a cablegram to the Agent-General to accept the offer for the supply of five Maxim guns, with their equipment and ammunition, at a cost of £400 each.

Mr. Ward, Treasurer of New Zealand, has informed Mr. Turner, the Premier of Victoria, that he is unable to comply with the request to abolish or to reduce the tax of £50, payable by commercial travellers upon landing in New Zealand.

The New South Wales revenue for the month of April amounted to £807,865, showing a decrease of £26,247 as compared with April of last year.

Reckoned on the basis of the present tariff the Treasurer states that the revenue shows an increase over April, 1895, of £22,248 17s 8d.

It is the intention of the Premier of Victoria in appointing Royal commissions to limit their expenditure to a definite sum. If a commission should require more than that amount, it will have to obtain the authority of Parliament for the increased expenditure.

Mr. Jacob Garrard, Minister of Public Instruction, and party were banqueted at Monkerai and Dungog on the occasion of the opening of the Barnes Creek bridge.

Mr. J. H. Carruthers, Minister for Lands, lectured at Kiama on Friday night on "Schools of Art."

Hospital Saturday was favoured with splendid weather, the sum collected amounted to £3676 14s 11d. During the day Lady Hampden drove round the city and visited many of the tables.

At Birrell-street, Waverley, a man snatched a collection box from Mrs. Robey, and with the aid of accomplices succeeded in getting away.

To-day work will be resumed at Sneddon's collieries, in the Newcastle district.

It is stated that an attempt is to be made by the proprietors of the Minmi mines to import free labour into the district from Western Australia.

At the London wool sales on Friday evening prices were firm at the opening rates of the series, and competition was good.

On Saturday prices were irregular, and many bales were withdrawn from sale.

In the Stock and Share market on Saturday there was only limited business. The market during the week was fairly active.

At Darling Harbour on Saturday 137 bales of wool were manifested. 54 bales were received by rail at Newcastle on Friday.

There was a fair amount of business in the Mining market for a Saturday, and the market closed with a generally good tone.

The Customs revenue received on Saturday amounted to £2972.

The abundance of money in Europe is causing more or less concern to capitalists. The bank supplies of gold have trebled within a comparatively short space of time. The higher value of the metal in relation to commodities within three or four years past has caused the search for it to be extended in every part of the world, with the result that the total output last year amounted to £41,000,000—double the production eight years ago, and more than was raised in the days when California and Australia were in their golden prime. Not only that, but a much larger proportion has been devoted to monetary purposes. And probably some portion of that in use otherwise has found its way into the banks' coffers as a basis for currency. The accumulation of gold for coinage or for bank reserves, stimulated by the increase of its value and by the cheaper cost of production, doubtless expressed the general view that it was required. Otherwise it would not have been raised. Everyone but the people concerned in the production of silver recognised this. While there was doubt as to the adequacy of the gold supply for monetary purposes—there was a feeling of uneasiness as regarded the standard of values, just as there is now in a greater degree in the United States. All concerned in the maintenance of gold as the standard, watched the output with extreme interest, and recorded each successive increase of production in Africa, in America, in Australia, in Russia, in India with manifest satisfaction, because it was felt to be required to give stability to the gold standard which so many nations, following the example of Great Britain, are adopting. Still this interest is being shown. And it is fully expected that the limit of production has not yet been reached.

The increase in the supply of gold in the banks has produced the inevitable reduction in its value. Never before could capital be borrowed so cheaply by Governments, by producers, or by merchants. Consols do not yield the investor 2 per cent. The manufacturer or the farmer can borrow much more cheaply than at any previous time, while our cable news has advised a lower market discount rate for fine mercantile paper than was ever before current. Money is a drug, and everybody is asking, how is it to be used so that those who hold it may have a better return? In regard to some of the undertakings on which it yields its smallest results, prominent authorities seem to think that the monetary conditions are abnormal. Certainly Goschen's Consols, pressed up by Government purchases, mainly on account of the investments of deposits in Post Office Savings Banks, cannot be regarded as representative of ordinary market conditions. While the Imperial Government gives the savings banks depositor $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on his deposit, and invests the money in Consols to return less than 2 per cent., paying the charges, the depositor naturally deposits his money freely, the Government invests readily, and Consols rise proportionately. It is not surprising that the Times should protest, for while this policy unduly raises the securities and disturbs the monetary position, it imposes the loss made by the Government as a charge on the general taxpayer.

The reduction of the interest rates on money is not wholly the result of its abundance. The cause is partly to be found in the partial arrest of its use through the occurrences of the past five years, which have, indeed, disarranged its distribution throughout the world. Ten years ago capital was flowing from Great Britain—from Europe indeed—to America, North and South, and to Australia. Baring's Bank disaster, the Australian bank crisis, and the American currency collapse set back the stream of capital towards Europe, the whole situation being aggravated by the consequent fall in prices, requiring the payment of interest and in part of principal of much larger amounts than would have had to be paid if prices had been maintained. Thus British wealth on the spot has accumulated to the disturbance of the capitalistic situation. And the difficulty is to find an outlet. If the United States currency question were settled, probably money would again flow westward in large amounts. But there is great distrust of the American situation, and while this continues the largest natural outlet for European capital is partially closed. China is getting some capital, and India will probably be a field for the employment of still more. And the larger trade with those countries will otherwise absorb more money. If India is to keep her mints closed to silver she will require more gold, as indeed she has been importing more. Should the general revival in trade continue, larger resources will be required to conduct it. Still the outlook on the immediate future does not present anything of a character that suggests the use of the large and accumulating stores of capital.

In Australia, if we are wise, we can afford to look on the European situation with satisfaction, because it means cheaper money to us as one of the debtor countries of the world. Already on nearly £200,000,000 of capital lent to Australian institutions the interest rate has been considerably reduced. Our banks and mortgage institutions hold their British capital at easier rates than they did, and their charge on this account will be still further reduced as loans mature, especially if money continues to accumulate, raises prices, and helps the producer. Even Anglo-Australian freights, which feed English wealth, are falling, and our produce is being conveyed more cheaply to market. This is made possible to shipping companies by their ability to raise capital on cheaper terms, of which the cable furnished an example a day or two back in the case of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. The financial arrangements of the Aberdeen and Lund lines of vessels to cheapen the carriage to Victorian producers afford further illustration of how cheap money is helping Australia. Because the bulk of the Government debts of the colonies, amounting to £200,000,000, are not redeemable for a long time ahead, the average interest rate of about 4 per cent. cannot be so quickly reduced. Still it will be found that the discontinuance of borrowing, and such reductions as have been effected in their public and private obligations, leave them with an annual charge less than £15,564,000, the amount of Mr. COGHLAN's last estimate. That the colonies, one and all, have been able to carry this burden of public debt, made so much heavier by the fall in prices, is a complete disproof of the criticisms of those who have said that they would be unable to meet their obligations. With higher prices for our produce, with a larger amount of production made cheaper by lower-priced money, with cheaper freights, the time of strain has passed. And if prudence guides the counsels of those who conduct our private as well as our public business, the abundance and cheapness of money will inevitably tell favourably on the progress of the colonies. At the present time the conditions suggest that if once again some part of the accumulations of the United Kingdom are to seek an outlet in Australia they ought to be allowed to come as far as possible at the risk of the British capitalist. Indeed, most of the fresh capital received from Europe is coming in that way to develop our mining resources. It is to be hoped that the colonies will not again fly to the specific of borrowing to create prosperity. Tempted they will be, but if they have not learnt the lessons by suffering, then it would be quite possible to suppose that the future depth of Australia would be that of Argentina. The Governments have never, like banks, had to reconstruct and demand lower interest rates on their debts because of excessive borrowing, aggravated by the fall in prices and consequent decline in the value of securities; but undoubtedly they have felt the strain, and however cheap money may be, it would be a mistake to aggravate it by a repetition of the borrowing simply because they are offered very cheap money. And it must be remembered that after all cheapness is but a relative term. In borrowing at 3 per cent., while we get about 50 per cent. more for each £100 we borrow than we did twenty-five years ago, each £3 of interest we pay requires 90 per cent. more of our produce. It is the forgetfulness of considerations such as this, combined with the trend of prices, that leads debtors, public and private, into the troubles from which they sometimes cannot escape without a rearrangement.

Our correspondent at Corowa, referring to the system of exchanging between the pastoralists of that district and the Crown, said in a message last Tuesday that "a strong feeling prevails among land applicants that the Minister for Lands should proceed most guardedly with land exchanges, and see that worse land is not taken by the department than that given away." This feeling is probably shared by the public. It must have struck many who read the particulars of the exchange of lands recently supplied by our special reporter with the Minister in Riverina that this is getting a big business and one requiring care. The Minister said that at the time of his visit there were just completed or pending an exchange of between 2000 and 3000 acres on Wannamurra, another of 13,571 acres on Coree, a third of about 7000 acres on Yanko, a fourth of nearly 16,000 acres on Nowranie, and a fifth of 3602 acres on Momalong, while other 87,094 acres were waiting to be dealt with. Further figures given by the Minister indicate the growth of this system. In the year 1892 an area of 5676 acres was exchanged between the Crown and the grantees. In the following year the area jumped to 59,713 acres, in 1894 to 89,148 acres, and in 1895 to 139,797 acres—in all, 294,334. But for 1896 the Minister hoped to put through a quarter of a million acres. It looks very much as if he would, when for April and preceding months he can point to 125,000 acres brought or to be brought under exchange.

The system was begun by the Act of 1889. The 46th clause of that measure provided that any holder of land within the leasehold or the resumed area of his holding, for which land he had obtained or was entitled to obtain a grant, might effect an exchange with the Crown for a like quantity within the leasehold area. Every proposed exchange should pass under the investigation of the local land board. The 47th clause of the Act of 1895 extended the principle. Under the former enactment the only transfer that could be made was when the grantee was willing to accept land within the leasehold, that is, the protected, area of his run. The later measure merely declares it lawful for the Governor to exchange "any Crown lands for any other lands of which a grant in fee-simple has been issued or may be called for." It is noticeable also in this clause that inquiry by the local land board, a sine qua non between 1889 and 1895, became henceforth dependent on Ministerial reference. One reason for the leaseholders taking advantage of the clause was that by the Act of 1889 they could only obtain an exchange by virtue of the land surrendered being within their leases; when, therefore, the leases might expire their power of effecting exchange would be gone. But yet the pastoralists did not seem anxious to take advantage of the earlier Act. Up to 1894, when the more liberal policy was declared, the area exchanged, according to the Minister's figures, was about 154,000 acres. In 1895, during part of which year the new Act was in force, but little less than this total area was exchanged, and the area will be nearly doubled this year. Yet if we turn to the discussion on this clause in the Assembly on 1st November, 1894, it will appear that quite a humble policy was in the Minister's mind. There were, owing to the peacocking of runs, a number of "tags and ends" of Crown land enclosed within alienations, and the department wanted power to give these fragmentary areas over in exchange for other areas of land already alienated. It is somewhat different from this modest scheme to find that blocks containing up to thousands of acres can be dealt with.

Now, there are some considerations why these large and apparently increasing transactions should not be hastily completed. The Minister for Lands has a praiseworthy ambition to push on the settlement of the country; he desires to so use the powers which he has obtained from Parliament as to stimulate the occupation of the land for homesteads. But we know he has to give as much at least as he gets. It is true, no doubt, that some part of the area surrendered by the Crown is from its situation and area unlikely to be occupied. To give it up in exchange for as much elsewhere which in conjunction with adjacent Crown lands can furnish forth a sufficient area for a homestead is good policy. Can these conditions be said to apply to all the blocks dealt with? Those 16,000 acres on Nowranie, those 13,000 on Coree, are they all wedged in somewhere in "tags and ends of 20 or 40 acres"? It might be thought from some remarks that the system added thousands of acres to the available Crown estate, but while it perhaps makes much land useful that was not useful before, the Crown gives an acre somewhere else for every one it gets back. And here is where the second consideration applies. The pastoralists as a class are very wideawake. Not much affecting their interests escapes them. It is unlikely, especially now that the halves system has become so general in Riverina, that the freeholders of that region will surrender first-class agricultural land for a like area of pastoral country. They may give up a block here or there in order to round off and consolidate their estates, but it is difficult to conceive of these hard-headed men handing over 250,000 acres of land suitable for occupation in small areas without getting as good as they give, perhaps something over. They are not to be blamed for making the best of the bargain, if they can. The Minister on his part is doing good service to the colony by getting back, if he can do so without sacrifice, land capable of supporting an agricultural class. What would go far to make the public content with the system of exchange is an assurance that some competent and unbiassed local authority, such as the land board, examines into every proposal. Under regulation 298 it is open to doubt whether such an inquiry is held in every case save on the direct reference of the Minister. It must appear that when areas of a quarter of a million acres come to be exchanged the public interest demands that the Minister should be aided by men of local knowledge. The Acts have established a tribunal of this kind in the local land boards, and no transactions of such magnitude ought to be carried through by the Minister without their advice. Perhaps these bodies, in terms of the second part of regulation 298, do invariably report upon proposed exchanges. That is what the public would be glad to know.

The assassination of NASR-ED-DIN by the hand of an agent of the Persian secret society which had already made several attempts on the life of the SHAH, may be either a mere act of fanaticism or one of those crudely diplomatic measures sometimes taken in Oriental countries to call attention to private or political grievances. The SHAHINSHAH, or "King of Kings," as his style proclaimed him, was of course well known in Europe through his visit in 1873 and again in 1889, and so far as his relations with England went they were friendly enough to warrant the QUEEN's message of condolence. The easy accession of his son and successor seems to indicate that affairs within the kingdom are in an orderly condition, and though a rival to the throne has come forward in the person of another and an elder son, the claim does not appear to have had the serious consequences customary in Eastern countries. That being so, we have no reason to fear that the death of the SHAH will have any injurious effects on British interests. Our European rival in connection with Persia is of course Russia, and the mention of this recalls our old troubles there in OUTRAM's and HAVELOCK's time. Thirty-nine years ago British troops taught Persia a sharp lesson as to the inadvisableness of interfering with Herat, which as the "key of India" was naturally an object of some concern to our diplomatists at home. The Persians had to relinquish Herat, but for fifteen years after that they pushed their claims and their advances, until Sir FREDERICK GOLDSMID fixed the frontier. Russia has always had a good deal to say in the affairs of Persia, and it is easy to see how the SHAH's possession of the "key of India" would have played into Russian hands. On the north-eastern frontier that country's aggression made considerable advances, and quite recently commercial companies and road concessions in Persia bore evidence to Russian enterprise. But on our side we have not been idle, as the concessions obtained by Sir HENRY DRUMMOND WOLFE in 1891 witnessed. Still it is as well that the peaceful succession of the SHAH's son gave no pretext for Russian interference in Persia.

THE LATE SIR HENRY PARKES.—The issue of the Sydney Mail this week will be of more than ordinary interest. An exceedingly fine portrait of the deceased statesman, printed in a supplement to the Mail, on paper specially suited for framing, will be given away to each subscriber. The engraving is from one of the most recent portraits of Sir Henry Parkes. The chief incidents in the funeral will be fully portrayed. The illustrations will include the procession starting from Kenilworth, the arrival at the mortuary station, and sketches by the principal of the Mail's art staff of the last rites at the Faulconbridge cemetery. Amongst other illustrations in the Mail will be a full-page sketch of the Polo Club's Gymkhana.

RETURN OF THE PREMIER.—The Premier, Mr. G. H. Reid, returned to Sydney by the express train on Saturday and at once went to his home at Burwood. Mr. Reid says that he was much pleased with the trip, which passed off, from beginning to end, without any untoward incident. He speaks in the highest terms of the treatment he received, not only at Broken Hill, but also whilst travelling through the other colonies. The Governments both of Victoria and South Australia did all they could to assist him, and both these colonies placed special reserved compartments at the disposal of the party. Mr. Reid says that the trip throughout was not only interesting, but highly instructive.

THE REVENUE RETURNS.—Speaking to a Herald reporter with reference to the revenue returns for the month of April, the Premier said that the revenue, on the basis of the present tariff, showed an increase over April of last year of £22,248 17s 8d. That shows an increase over the same month of 1894, on the same basis, of £18,735. With regard to the Customs revenue, on the basis of the present tariff, there has been an increase of £20,000 from the 1st January last to the 30th ultimo—that is at the rate of £80,000 a year. Taking the corresponding period in 1894, also on the basis of the present tariff, the increase of Customs revenue from the 1st January last is no less than £36,000, or at the rate of £108,000 per annum. With regard to the expenditure, the total for the month, chargeable to 1896, is £1,028,000. This shows an expenditure over revenue of over £200,000; but this is accounted for by an item paid for interest on the public debt amounting to £100,000, or more than double the proportion for the month. Mr. Reid states that he is more than satisfied with these figures, which he considers to be of an encouraging nature.

THE CIVIL SERVICE BOARD.—The members of the Civil Service Board are actively engaged in the consideration of the Departments of Justice, Mines, and Agriculture and the Postal and Electric Telegraph offices. The result of the examination by the board into the Department of the Chief Secretary will be made public in the course of a few days.

THE MOLONG AND FORBES INQUIRY.—With reference to the inquiry held by the Public Service Board as a Royal Commission at Molong and Forbes respecting the charge made against Mr. C. H. Battye, inspector of conditional purchases, it is expected that the report of the board will be forwarded to his Excellency the Governor this week.

EXTENSION OF THE FRANCHISE TO WOMEN.—Mr. Griffith, M.L.A., is having drafted a bill which he is going to introduce into Parliament at as early a date as possible with the object of extending the franchise to women. He is taking this step, he says, as the result of a recent visit to South Australia, where he went for the purpose of ascertaining by personal inquiry the use of the women's vote and its results. He was favourably impressed with its operations, and is of opinion it will prove highly beneficial to the colony. The women, he found, were not actuated by fads, but by political principles.

THE MAIL STEAMERS.—The R.M.S. Orient passed Green Cape yesterday from London to this port, and is due here early to-day. The Oroya, with a full list of passengers, leaves at 1 p.m. from the Quay in the Orient line. In the Canadian-Australian line the managing agents, Messrs. Huddart, Parker, and Company, are in receipt of a cable advising the arrival of the Miowera on Friday last. The R.M.S. Mariposa, in the A. and A. route, left San Francisco for Sydney last Thursday. The principal agent, M. Blanc, is advised that the Polynesien, in the Messageries line, which left Marseilles on the 26th ultimo, left Suez on the 1st instant at 6 p.m. for Sydney, via ports. On Saturday last the Ville de la Ciotat, one of the M.M. Company's steamers, left here for Noumea with through passengers from Marseilles and cargo. The China Navigation Company's Tainan on Saturday left for Hongkong and Japan with a number of passengers and general cargo. The Bayern (North German Lloyd) left Adelaide on Saturday for Bremen with every berth taken, and the P. and O. Company's Britannia last night arrived at Adelaide from London. Her mails are due here on Wednesday for delivery, and are of London date the 3rd ultimo.

THE GOVERNOR'S VISIT TO GRAFTON.—The s.s. City of Grafton arrived from the Clarence River at half-past 10 o'clock last evening with a full complement of passengers. The majority of these had gone from Sydney to attend the festivities in connection with the visit of Lord Hampden to Grafton, and to be present at the opening of the new butter, bacon, and ice factory established on the Clarence by the Fresh Food and Ice Company. The factory was inaugurated on Thursday last at a banquet, which was remarkable for being the largest gathering of the kind ever held outside Sydney. It was attended by no fewer than 520 guests, and carried out in a style and with a completeness which almost suggested a State banquet. The catering was entrusted to Mr. Fred. W. Forster, of Sydney, and he discharged his commission in such a way that it was most favourably commented upon by many of the guests. At the banquet the promoters were represented by Mr. Laidley Mort (chairman of the board of directors of the Fresh Food and Ice Company), and Mr. H. Pateson (general manager of the company). These gentlemen returned by the City of Grafton last evening, as also did Mr. James Martin, Mr. A. W. Meeks, Alderman Penny, and other guests of the company. The band of the Permanent Artillery, which had spent a week at Grafton (playing at the vice-regal festivities and also at the show) came back by the steamer. On Saturday evening an impromptu concert was held on board, and in connection therewith Mr. Hutchinson (the bandmaster) and several members of the band rendered excellent service. Yesterday afternoon, too, the band performed a capital selection of music. Out of compliment to the skipper, Captain Anthon, who did all that it was possible to do to secure the enjoyment of the passengers, the band on Saturday evening played the Danish National Anthem. The passage was a smooth-water one, and was therefore thoroughly pleasurable.

NEW VESSEL FOR AUSTRALIAN TRADE.—Messrs. A. M'Arthur and Co., the managing agents in Australia for the Gulf Line, and representatives of another important line known as the Lord Line, have been advised that a new steel vessel to the order of the latter-named line has been launched from the yards of Messrs. Workman and Clark, of Belfast. She has capacity of 3850 tons, and is intended for the Australian trade, and has been christened Lord Dufferin.

THE DIFFICULTY IN THE BOOT TRADE.—On Saturday night the Boot Trade Union held two largely attended open-air meetings at Newtown and Eveleigh, when the position from the employees' standpoint was pretty fully stated. Mr. Davenport, at Camperdown, was seen on Saturday by Mr. Down, the secretary of the Boot Trade Union, and agreed to work his factory under the "statement." This will decrease the ranks of the strikers by something like 15 men this morning. Mr. James M'Murtrie is expected home to-day, and a satisfactory understanding with him is looked forward to. There are something like 80 men out at this firm's place, and should they go in the strike will have dwindled down practically to a few men. The contributions to the levy last week were promptly paid.

A MASONIC SERVICE.—A Masonic service was held under the dispensation of the Grand Lodge of New South Wales in St. John's Church, Parramatta, last night. It was attended by Sir Joseph Abbott, Grand Master, Bro. Alban Gee, Deputy Grand, and other Grand Lodge officers and representatives of all the lodges in the district, numbering 200, in regalia. The Grand Chaplain, Bishop Camidge, of Bathurst, preached. The collection in aid of the district hospital, Parramatta, realised £27 7s 3d.

ASSAULT IN A TRAIN.—By the train that left Newcastle on Saturday afternoon for Sydney there were as passengers Warder Armstrong, of Darlinghurst Gaol, and a prisoner named Hareford, alias Williams. They were the only occupants of a second-class carriage, adjoining the guard's van. The prisoner, who is at present undergoing a sentence of three months in Darlinghurst Gaol, was sent up to Newcastle to answer another charge of theft, and upon which charge he was committed to take his trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions. Warder Armstrong was bringing him back to Sydney. The prisoner was handcuffed, and all went well until after the train left Hornsby, when the warder unfastened one of the man's handcuffs in order that he might get a drink of water from a decanter standing on a bracket at the side of the carriage. The prisoner having his hands free, poured out a glass of water from the decanter and drank it. He then struck the warder on the head with the decanter, inflicting a wound, and for a moment stunned the officer. The prisoner got hold of the warder's revolver and threw it out of the window. The warder having recovered somewhat, rushed at the prisoner, who was a powerful man, and a scuffle ensued. The struggle continued until the train reached Strathfield, where a railway porter and a constable on the platform saw the men struggling in the carriage and rushed in and secured the prisoner, whose clothes as well as those of the warder's were covered with blood. The prisoner said he could easily have shot the warder if he had so desired, but his only object was to gain his liberty.

A FALL FROM A HORSE.—A boy named Frank Seaton, 9 years of age, residing at 160 Queen-street, Woollahra, was admitted to the Sydney Hospital on Saturday. The boy was riding a horse along Bathurst-street, when he was thrown. On admission to the hospital it was found that the boy had sustained concussion of the brain.

A MAN POISONED BY MATCHES.—Information was conveyed to the Pyrmont police yesterday that a man named William M'Auley, residing at 14 Experiment-lane, Pyrmont, had eaten a box of matches. Sergeant M'Crimmon at once proceeded to M'Auley's residence and found the man apparently suffering from the effects of poison. M'Auley was conveyed to the Sydney Hospital and admitted for treatment.

KILLED BY A HORSE.—Thos. Gresham, aged 45, lately residing with his brother at 104 Queen-street, yesterday morning went to catch a horse in a paddock near Oxford-street, when he was kicked in the stomach. Dr. Smith was in attendance, but Gresham died.

DEATH OF A CHEMIST AT REDFERN.—John Walter Betts, age 49, died at Prince Alfred Hospital on Saturday, where he had been taken some two hours before. The cause of death was an overdose of morphia. It appears deceased was a chemist, managing the branch shop for Messrs. Marshall Brothers at 97 Regent-street, Redfern, where he resided with his wife. Deceased was thrown from a vehicle a few weeks ago, and of late showed signs of wandering in his mind. On Friday evening, when going to bed, his wife noticed he was very strange, and the following morning, as he was no better, she determined to watch his movements as much as possible. However, about dinner time, he showed signs of having taken poison. Dr. Gwynne Hughes was called in and at once ordered his removal to the hospital, where he was admitted by Dr. Dick. On being questioned at the hospital deceased said he had poisoned himself.

SUDDEN DEATH AT PARRAMATTA.—An old man named Timothy York, 55 years of age, was admitted into the Parramatta District Hospital from Seven Hills on Saturday afternoon. He died two hours after admission.

DR. AND MRS. MILLS announce that they have removed to the Equitable-buildings, George-street, where Dr. Mills will to-night begin a series of lectures on "Practical Metaphysics and Healing."

THE EXPENDITURE OF ROYAL COMMISSIONS.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The committee on the public accounts in a report last session recommended that there be some check or limit placed on the expenditure of Royal Commissions, and the Premier was so annoyed at the expenditure in connection with the Hobart Exhibition, and the manner in which the Water Commission is being spun out, that he intends in appointing future commissions to limit their expenditure to a definite sum. If a commission expends that amount and requires more money to carry on its inquiry it will have to get the authority of Parliament before the expenditure is incurred.

PURCHASE OF MAXIM GUNS.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

A cable message was despatched yesterday by the Premier to the Agent-General, directing Mr. Gillies to accept the offer made to supply five Maxims, with their equipment and ammunition, at a cost of £400 each. The guns ought, therefore, to arrive here about July, when they will be placed in the hands of the different infantry battalions.

MR. SYDNEY SMITH IN MELBOURNE.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Mr. Sydney Smith, Minister for Mines and Agriculture in New South Wales, who has been attending the conference of Ministers of Agriculture in Adelaide, reached Melbourne yesterday morning, and called on the Minister for Mines. The question of both colonies joining in the expense of prospecting for gold on either side of the border line from Cape Howe to the Australian Alps was discussed. Mr. Smith stated that he believed the expenditure would be justified by the results, and promised to urge the New South Wales Government to co-operate in the matter.

TAX ON COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS IN NEW ZEALAND.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

About a month ago the Premier wrote to Mr. Seddon, the Premier of New Zealand, calling attention to the fact that commercial travellers visiting New Zealand from the other colonies were compelled to pay a tax of £50 upon landing in that colony, and expressing the hope that as the tax seriously affected the trade of Victorian merchants the New Zealand Government would either reduce the tax to a nominal sum or abolish it altogether. Mr. Turner received a reply yesterday from Mr. Ward, the Treasurer of New Zealand, in which he regretted that he was unable to agree with the statement that the tax was sufficiently heavy to seriously affect the trade of Victorian merchants, and he asked Mr. Turner to consider the effect which the exemption of non-resident traders in New Zealand would have upon the business of merchants in that colony, who are subject to an income tax. Mr Ward added —"The imposition of a fixed amount of £50 was determined on in consequence of the difficulty experienced by representatives of non-resident merchants in making a return of the business done and profits arising therefrom. In many cases the Taxation Department was informed that it was practically impossible to furnish the required information, and the suggestion was made by many representatives, as well as by several principals, that a fixed amount per annum be substituted. After careful consideration I adopted this suggestion, and it was embodied in an amending Act passed last session. Since the Act was brought into operation I have watched its effect, and have heard many representations on the subject, but at present I regret to say I do not consider it advisable to make any alteration."

THE NEW RAILWAY MANAGER.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Mr. John Mathieson, the newly-appointed General Manager of the Victorian railways, arrived here yesterday on a preliminary visit, and will spend a week here. He expects to take over his new duties at the beginning of July.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Melbourne Clearing-house returns for the week ended 27th May amount to £2,501,987, showing an increase of £178,540 as compared with the corresponding week last year. The total clearances since 1st of January are £42,403,237, showing an increase of £2,845,188 as compared with the corresponding period of last year.

Mr. Joseph Winter, M.L.A. for South Melbourne, who had been ailing for some time past, died yesterday, aged 43.

"Trilby" continues to prove a strong attraction at the Princess Theatre. It will be withdrawn at the end of the week. The Westmacott Company at the Theatre Royal, have had the satisfaction of playing to large audiences regularly since the opening of their Melbourne season. The "Work Girl," which had a successful run, was replaced last night by the Irish military drama, "Sons of Erin." At the Alexandra Theatre last night Dan Barry's Company successfully produced the sensational drama, "First Class." A fairly large audience assembled in the Town Hall last evening to hear the visiting vocalists known as the "German Court Singers." The concert was a most enjoyable one. The music was excellent, and aroused enthusiasm.

The usual demonstration peculiar to May Day was held this afternoon on the Yarra bank. The crowd numbered about 3000.

SENTENCES OF BANISHMENT.

GERMAN INFLUENCE FEARED.

LONDON, May 1.

Several of the leading newspapers of Paris fear that if the members of the Reform Committee are banished from the Transvaal it will seriously damage the Rand, and that they will be replaced by Germans, thus injuring French shareholders.

The journals urge M. Hanotaux, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, to advise President Kruger on the subject.

THE ORANGE FREE STATE.

TREATY ARRANGEMENTS WITH THE CHARTERED COMPANY.

LONDON, May 2.

A motion was submitted in the Volksraad of the Orange Free State for modifying the extradition treaty entered into with the British South Africa Company, on the ground that it was no longer a civilised Government.

In the course of the debate on the motion it was declared that Mr. Cecil Rhodes desired to set himself up as a dictator, and was sending emissaries to Matabeleland to make a pretext for importing troops into South Africa. The President of the Volksraad ruled the motion out of order. He declared that it would be necessary to abrogate all the treaties entered into with the chartered company.

IMPUTATION AGAINST LORD LOCH.

EXPLANATION IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

LONDON, May 2.

In the House of Lords last night Lord Loch, formerly Governor of Cape Colony, made an explanation with reference to the statement made by the Pretoria correspondent of the Paris Temps to the effect that the Transvaal Government was in possession of proofs that in July, 1894, Lord Loch discussed with the Reform Committee the question of an invasion of the Transvaal, that he offered to assist in the movement, and made inquiries of Mr. Lionel Phillips (one of the four who were sentenced to death) as to the quantity of arms, &c., at Johannesburg.

Lord Loch stated that he received an urgent request from the residents of Johannesburg to pay the Rand a visit, as they declared they were labouring under a number of grievances which required redress. Fearing that an outbreak would ensue, President Kruger dissuaded him from visiting Johannesburg. Lord Loch consequently proceeded to Pretoria, and while there he received a deputation of foreign residents, to whom he pointed out the futility of an attempt to foment a rising with only 1000 rifles. He did not at any time offer to assist in the movement, and the statement made by the Paris Temps was wholly without foundation.

The London newspapers in their comments on Lord Loch's speech express the opinion that his explanation may be accepted as perfectly correct.

CONGO FREE STATE.

THE HANGING OF MR. STOKES.

TRIAL OF CAPTAIN LOTHAIRE.

LONDON, May 3.

Captain Lothaire, a Belgian official in the service of the Congo Free State, West Africa, has been tried and acquitted in connection with the death of Mr. Stokes, an English trader, who was summarily hanged last year by order of Captain Lothaire.

Considerable stir was caused in Europe in August last year by the news that an English ex-missionary and trader named Stokes had been summarily executed by the Belgian authorities at Lindi, in the Congo Free State, on a charge of selling arms and ammunition to the slave-traders. It was stated that there were other grounds for his execution, and moreover that his conviction was illegal. The suggestion was that his influence in the country made him obnoxious to the Belgian authorities. Captain Lothaire, the officer by whose orders Stokes was hanged, was required to explain his action in regard to the affair, and was sent to Boma for trial, with the result that, as our cablegram states, he has been acquitted of the charge preferred against him.

ASSASSINATION OF THE SHAH OF PERSIA.

SHOT IN A MOSQUE.

VICTIM OF A SECRET SOCIETY.

ARREST OF THE ASSASSIN.

THE SUCCESSION TO THE THRONE.

MESSAGE OF SYMPATHY FROM QUEEN VICTORIA.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, May 2.

A telegraphic despatch was received from Teheran this morning announcing that the Shah of Persia, Nasr-ed-Din, K.G., had been assassinated in a mosque.

The intelligence to hand states that the Shah was in the act of entering the Azim Mosque when he was shot by a mollah named Reza.

The Shah was mortally wounded. He was removed to the palace, and died two hours afterwards.

The mollah Reza was immediately arrested. He belongs to the Babi Society, a secret organisation, the emissaries of which had made four previous attempts at various times on the life of the Shah.

The late Shah will be succeeded by the heir presumptive to the throne, Muzaffer-ed-Din Mirza, the Shah's second son, who was born in 1853.

It is expected that the succession will be contested by Massoud Mirza, the Shah's eldest son, who was born in 1850.

The assassination of the Shah has not given rise to any revolutionary outbreak amongst the populace of Teheran, and order prevails in the city.

May 3.

Her Majesty the Queen has sent a message to the Persian Government expressing her sympathy for the great loss sustained by Persia in the assassination of the Shah, and congratulating the country on the accession of so worthy a successor as Muzaffer-ed-Din Mirza.

The late Shah of Persia, son of the late Mehemet Shah, was born in 1829, and was therefore in his 67th year at the time of his death. He was well versed in Persian and Turkish, was acquainted with history, and had travelled extensively. He showed a great desire to cultivate closer relationships with England by the commercial concessions he granted in a convention obtained in 1891 through the influence of Sir Henry Drummond Wolff. He was called to the throne on 10th September, 1848. At the beginning of the war between Russia and Turkey in 1853 he declared his neutrality, but shortly before its close entered into a treaty with Russia. In the following year, in consequence of the occupation of Herat by Persian troops, the Government of India declared war against him (1st November, 1856). After a few months of hostilities, during which General Outram captured Kurrach, Bushire, and other places, a treaty of peace was signed in Paris by Lord Cowley and the Persian ambassador, in which ample satisfaction was given to England. Subsequently the Shah had wars with several neighbouring states, and was successful in an expedition against the Turcomans. Of late years he acted in a most friendly manner towards England, and in 1866 a treaty for establishing telegraphic communication between Europe and India through Persia was signed at Teheran. The Shah's visit to Europe in 1873 was a strong argument as to the moderation and popularity of his rule, for although he was absent from his kingdom from 12th May till 6th September, not one breath of sedition disturbed the political calm that reigned there. In four months the Shah crossed the Caspian to Astrakhan, ascended the Volga, visited Moscow and St. Petersburg, crossed by rail to Berlin and Cologne, ascended by rail to Wiesbaden and Frankfort, Heidelberg, Carlsruhe, and Baden, turned northwards to Biberich, descended the Rhine to Bonn, took the rail to Spa, went on to Brussels, crossed from Ostend to Dover, visited London, Portsmouth, Liverpool, Trentham, Manchester, Windsor, Woolwich, and Richmond; crossed to Cherbourg, visited Paris, Geneva, Turin, Milan, and Verona; crossed the Brenner to Salzburg and Vienna, returned to Italy, crossed from Brindisi to Constantinople, and from Constantinople to Poti, took rail to Tiflis and carriage to Baku, and thence returned by steamer to Enzeli, the Persian port at which his Majesty had first embarked in May. During this journey the Shah kept a diary, which, on his return, was published in the original Persian. A verbatim English translation, by Mr. J. W. Redhouse, appeared in London in 1874. The Shah since paid a visit to Russia, entering the capital of that country in state, 23rd May, 1878. The "Diary kept by his Majesty the Shah of Persia during his journey to Europe in 1878, translated from the Persian by Albert Schindler and Baron Louis de Norman," was published in London in 1879. The Shah made a second tour of Europe in 1889.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

GLEN INNES, Saturday.

Upwards of 200 residents assembled at Beardy Bridge this afternoon to welcome his Excellency the Governor, the Hon. Messrs Brand, and Mr. Gathorne Hardy to Glen Innes. The visitors were driven in two drags, which had been specially sent out to meet them after the long horseback ride. Their arrival was the signal for a loyal outburst of cheering. After the visitors had been warmly welcomed by Alderman F. J. Thomas, J.P. (Mayor), Mr. F. A. Wright, M.L.A., and Mr. George Martin, P.M., a procession was formed, and the journey was continued. A body of troopers, under Superintendent Garvin, formed the escort of the vice-regal party. On arrival at the Great Central Hotel the party was again accorded an enthusiastic reception by the crowd which thronged the street. The local Volunteer Company, under Major Fitzhardinge, was drawn up as a guard of honour, and saluted in splendid style as the Governor alighted. the Glen Innes Brass Band meanwhile playing the National Anthem. The party appears to be in no way fatigued by the tedious horseback journey. The weather is magnificent, which augurs well for the success of Monday's functions.

THE POSTAL DEPARTMENT.

PERTH, Saturday.

The Victorian expert, Mr. Caldwell, who was brought over to report on the Post and Telegraph Department of this colony, endorses the frequent assertions of the Postmaster-General that more space is required to conduct the enormously increased postal and telegraphic business. Mr. Caldwell recommends the building of a new post-office at once in a more conveniently situated site than the present one, and the appointment of additional inspectors free from routine work, to systematically inspect the conduct of the work of the department. The appointment of a controller of the mail services is strongly recommended. Mr. Caldwell expressed surprise at the lack of a systematic check to prevent fraud in connection with the collection of the telegraph revenue. He suggests the adoption of the system now in vogue in Victoria. Mr. Caldwell thinks that the complaint made with regard to the delays which have taken place in the delivery of letters and telegrams are to a certain extent warranted by the facts which have come under his notice. Mr. Caldwell expressly states in conclusion that "no radical reform, however, is possible until additional space is provided for extending the department."

INTERCOLONIAL AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ADELAIDE, Saturday.

The Intercolonial Agricultural Conference yesterday considered what steps should be taken to assist producers to overcome the difficulties attendant on the distance of the world's markets, as, for instance, the delay which takes place before the returns come to hand. It was resolved to take steps to facilitate the obtaining of advances by producers on approved produce. The question of obtaining an improved method of marketing whereby the producer might obtain the full value of his produce came under consideration, and suggestions for federal action were made. It was also decided to recommend to the Governments an arrangement every year of an Australasian federal agricultural exhibit at one of the principal agricultural shows in England. The question of agricultural statistics was raised, and Ministers considered it advisable to adopt a uniform schedule, so that any statistics collected might admit of ready comparison. The desirableness of assimilating the methods of branding stock throughout the colonies was affirmed, and the colonies that have not come into line on the subject will be asked to assimilate their stock regulations with those of the other colonies. It was also decided to do all possible in the shape of legislation to stamp out the fruit pests and to prevent the introduction to the colonies of new ones. Reports on various subjects were ordered, and when these have been received from experts Mr. Sydney Smith will convene another conference to be held in Sydney. The conference closed with a cordial vote of thanks to Dr. Cockburn for convening it and presiding over its deliberations. Mr Smith left by the express the same evening for Sydney.

THE WEATHER.

A WARM NOR' WESTER.

LIGHT SCATTERED RAINS IN THE COUNTRY.

Though some showers have fallen since Saturday in parts of this colony they are so light as to be of but a nominal value. The highest reading on Saturday at the Observatory was 80°, and yesterday it went two-tenths higher in a nor' wester. The direction of the wind was N.W. on Saturday, from S.W. to N.W., and 15 miles per hour at noon; but yesterday some of the puffs went in the afternoon, between 3 and 4 o'clock, up to 26 miles per hour. Down south last night a cold westerly wind was blowing, with thick rain.

A few light showers fell here to-day. There was every appearance of good rain, but it has apparently passed away. STRANGE DEATH OF A YOUNG WOMAN.

SUPPOSED CASE OF SUICIDE.

Florrie Hunter, a young woman about 24 years of age, was found dead at No. 5 Wemyss-street on Saturday afternoon. The information supplied to the police at No. 2 station shows that Hunter lived with a man named Harry Johnson at the above address. The woman was previously living in Devonshire-street: but has been staying at Wemyss-street for some time past. Johnson usually finds employment on the wharfs, and left home at about 8.30 on Saturday morning to go to work. At the time, as far as is known, the woman was all right. Johnson returned home from his work about 2o'clock, and the woman was then lying in the dining-room with her throat cut. The police were soon apprised of what had happened, and the body of the woman was conveyed to the South Sydney Morgue. An examination of the body revealed the fact that the woman had a terrible gash in the throat. A closer inspection of the premises was subsequently made by the police. In a bedroom upstairs was found a tableknife covered with blood, with which the woman's throat was undoubtedly cut. A piece of paper was also found, upon which was written, "I have done it." This was presumably in the deceased's handwriting. The appearance of the room, which showed no signs of a struggle having taken place, together with the discovery of the piece of paper, led to the conclusion that the deceased had committed suicide. On the other hand, the fact of the woman being found in a room on the lower floor, while the deed was to all appearances committed in the room above, is somewhat conflicting with the theory of suicide. The police think it is quite probable that the woman could have inflicted the wound herself while in an upstairs room and immediately descended to a lower floor before the consequent loss of blood rendered her incapable of moving. Johnson is detained by the police at No. 2 station.

THE CRISIS IN THE COAL TRADE.

SNEDDON'S COLLIERIES TO RESUME WORK.

A PROTRACTED STRUGGLE ANTICIPATED.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

The strike continues. Probably the most important development which has taken place within the past few days has been the completion of arrangements for resuming work at Sneddon's collieries to-morrow. An agreement has been signed by Mr. Sneddon on the one side and by D. Rochford and L. Crook on the other (the two latter being the president and secretary respectively of the lodge) for the purpose of regulating the condition under which the men will recommence work; but both parties display a disinclination to publish the precise terms of the agreement at present. It is, however, considered to be of a satisfactory character, and will remain in force until further notice. This is an interesting development, but it can have very little bearing upon the strike: for the production of coal during next week in this district is hardly likely to equal the necessities of intercolonial trade. Cardiff, Northern Extended, and Pacific, all of which collieries are in this district, will be at work to-morrow. The other Newcastle pits will be in idleness.

It is now stated that an attempt is to be made by the proprietors of the Hunter mines to import free labour into this district. This action has been contemplated for some time. As the proprietors have reconciled themselves to the continuance of the strike for an indefinite period, there will be ample time to bring men into the district before the settlement of the dispute is likely to be effected. The steamer Duckenfield, it is asserted, is being fitted up to proceed to Western Australia, and arrangements are being made to make such alterations as will be required to be made in accordance with the Passengers Act. Although this statement is positively made, doubts are still expressed that the present intention of the proprietary will be carried into effect. Up to the present time everything has been quiet in the district; but it is certain that the importation of free labour will seriously disturb the serenity of the outlook.

Coal is advancing in price. The increase is now stated to be from 2s to 2s 3d per ton. There is a great demand, and every probability of further increases of price.

A large section of the miners are of opinion that the production of coal in the district will have to be entirely ceased to ensure the success of the strike; and it is also thought by a large number that it would be to the advantage of the men to close all the southern mines as well, as to produce a complete blockade of the trade. A meeting is being organised to be held at Teralba, for the purpose of inducing the Pacific men to cease work. It is not known whether the Pacific men can be persuaded to leave off or not, although it is known that the men are at present strongly in favour of continuing work. The agreement arrived at with regard to Sneddon's collieries will be watched with interest, for it may make the men of other collieries in the vicinity of Gartlee more anxious to continue work.

There is every indication of the strike lasting a long time. Both pasties remain very determined not to give way. Many of the miners have gone to Cockle Creek, where there are fishing-grounds. Tents are erected in the vicinity, and the consequence is, that for a few shillings a week those men can obtain a livelihood. The obtainment of a little credit and the practice of economy will thus enable a proportion of the miners to continue the strike without serious hardship, and even for some of them the stoppage of work is practically a holiday. But there is the larger proportion of men who have wives and families, and whose condition is not such as will enable them to lose their weekly income for any length of time without causing great distress.

The Stockton miners received their pay yesterday. It is asserted by the management that the men's wages have been misrepresented, and that they had been earning fairly good wages for some time past.

The proprietors, with one exception, are merely offering from the position they have taken up. It is pointed out that the men have become more aggressive since the strike commenced, and that the proposition to pay all the prices of the 1888 agreement is altogether too absurd to be entertained. Additional evidence is to-day forthcoming to show, however, that this is what the men are striving for. Some of the coalmasters state they are now perfectly indifferent as to what the men demand. All they know is that they will go in for less wages than those they were receiving. Owing to the excessive loss of trade, the extra expense, and serious inconvenience which have been brought about by almost the whole of the district ceasing work have made some of the gentlemen connected with the management declare that ultimately the miners will have to share in bearing the effects of the mischief they have brought about.

Several miners' delegates yesterday expressed regret that Mr. Alexander Brown did not go to Sydney and explain his views upon the coal trade. That they agree with him in his opinions is certain, but they seem to think it strange that Mr. Brown did not go to the conference and lay before the Premier the data upon which he bases his conclusions that the price of coal could be raised is or 2s without injury to the export trade. It is understood that the late hour at which the Premier's invitation was received was one of the circumstances which prevented Mr. Brown's attendance.

The present position may be summed up briefly. The proprietors, though disunited, are acting with unanimity, or rather are resting unanimously, for they are merely offering a passive resistance, and are determined to wait until the men are anxious to return to work. The men themselves are very determined to carry on the struggle. The idea of the profit resulting at a low figure that will enable them to lose their weekly income for a few days is regarded as a myth. The men are in receipt of from 30s to 35s per week, and are not contributing to any benefit society. They are therefore in a position to hold out for a considerable time. The proprietors, on the other hand, are losing from £1000 to £1200 per week, and are not receiving any profit on the output of their collieries. Should the strike continue for any length of time, the proprietors will be in a position to dictate terms to the men.

WHAT SHIPPING AGENTS STATE.

DAMAGE TO THE COAL TRADE.

There was a complete unanimity of opinion amongst shipping agents yesterday when they were requested to state to what extent the strike was affecting trade or was likely to affect it. Mr. Alexander Brown appears to stand alone amongst them in maintaining that present prices can be increased without diminishing foreign sales; for there was a general opinion expressed yesterday that the trade was in such a position that it would bear but little tension, and that the coal industry, by reason of the keenness of foreign competition, would stand but slight disruption of its ordinary progress if the future output was to be maintained.

Yesterday Messrs. R. B. Wallace and Co. received a cablegram ordering inquiries to be made for Southern coal in consequence of the impossibility of obtaining supplies in Newcastle. The firm stated they had received advices from foreign houses they represent, in which bitter complaints were made of the inconvenience and loss of money caused by the strike. "We have received letters," said a member of the firm yesterday, "in which it has been made clear that a strike will very materially interfere with the Californian trade; and even as a result of the rumours some time ago about a strike going to take place, we have been advised that arrangements have been made with the British Columbian and Coastal mines for increased four-output, so that in future they will be still larger competitors with the Newcastle collieries than they have been in the past."

Mr. Reid, of the firm of John Reid and Co., stated yesterday that some intercolonial boats had been ordered to take Southern coal in view of the impossibility of securing supplies in Newcastle. This is a point that has been very much discussed in mining circles, that is, whether a strike in the north would divert the trade of Newcastle to the south. So far as the intercolonial trade is concerned there is not the slightest doubt that the southern collieries will obtain orders to execute—as they are doing now—which under normal conditions of trade would have come to Newcastle. Mr. Reid stated that the Glaucus and Beeswing, both Melbourne steamers, would have come to Newcastle this week to load coal had there been no strike. These two vessels are loading Southern coal at present, and will continue to do so until the strike is over. Steamers passing Newcastle on the northern trip can only obtain bunker coal in this port, colliery shipping agents continuing to supply those vessels with which regular business is done. "Vessels that come here occasionally," added Mr. Reid, "to obtain coal cargoes will have to go to the south now, as some intercolonial vessels are already doing, and consequently the southern output must be increased."

Messrs. Cuthbertson and Co. have received communications from their representative in Invercargill pointing to similar results of the strike, as far as New Zealand is concerned, to those already predicted with regard to the Californian trade. "I fear," he remark in one letter, "that the strike will do your district a deal of harm, for I know that in a few years the west coast mines will be competitors with you in foreign markets." At Westport the local supply has been largely cut off owing to the Brunner disaster. A new mine at Granity Creek will be opened in six weeks' time. The other collieries there are fully engaged in carrying out present contracts without accepting additional orders, so that an increased output from the New Zealand mines, and an increased selling price is expected to take place. It is pointed out that the schooner Pandle Hill, which was chartered for Picton (N.Z.) and Sydney loading, would have come to Newcastle for a coal cargo had one been obtainable. In this case the southern collieries did not benefit by the stoppage of supplies in Newcastle, and firms which chartered for Lyttleton previous to the strike have ceased to do so altogether, southern coal in the market being unable to replace the Newcastle product.

It is not many months ago that colliery representatives generally held the opinion that a strike was a long way off, and shipping agents consequently advised home firms to send their ships along for coal cargoes. A French company was among the victims. The advice tendered by a British shipping firm to a French firm is always seriously considered, for in commerce Britishers are generally credited with considerable acumen, and their advice is nearly always accepted as what turfites call the correct tip. Eagerly the French company seized upon a plan by which their vessels could do a round trip, and load coal in Newcastle and nitrate in America. Consequently the Louis Pasteur and the Jules Verne were sent here in ballast, and they remain in ballast in the port. Jean d'Arc, a vessel belonging to the same company, is on her way out. The sending of these vessels here was an experiment, and it has doubtless taught the authorities at Nance that the chances of commerce in the Newcastle trade are as doubtful as those of war, and that the correct "tip" is not always to be relied upon.

A CAPTAIN ON THE SITUATION.

Yesterday Captain Watson, of the Wychwood, was interviewed. "Do we feel aggrieved?" he said, when asked as to how the captains of vessels felt in regard to the strike. "We feel galled. I tell you it is galling to have to wait day after day and probably week after week to be loaded without knowing when you're likely to be able to get away. All those vessels you see yonder," he added, pointing to a number of large barques ranged along the Dyke and elsewhere, "were alongside us at Monts Video and other places. All have come out here without anyone knowing they were going to be stuck up in this way; and the Wychwood is only fourth to load Wallsend. Had the miners worked a few more days we would have been away. As it is we have to remain here, not knowing what we may have to do."

"What loss do you think the British shipping companies will sustain through the strike?"

"A very great loss," the captain replied, "and one they're not likely to risk again. Several skippers were talking over the matter the other night, and they estimated that the lowering idle of all the British ships in this port will involve a loss of £15,000 a day to the companies. There are about 2000 sailors and officers connected with these ships, and the expenses run on under any circumstances."

"Do you think we will lose a large amount of this shipping?"

"There's not the slightest doubt about it in the world. You may never get it back. Your last strike staggered the coal trade here. Coming on the top of that, the present strike will simply shake all confidence in the intercolonial trade. At the same time I think it's only fair to say that there is a very strong feeling of sympathy with the miners, for nearly all the captains I have spoken to incline to the opinion that coal could be sold for export at 9s; colliery proprietors would come to a proper understanding amongst themselves. That is my own opinion too; and although a man naturally feels aggrieved at being humbugged through this strike, there is no doubt a lot to be said in favour of the position taken up by the men."

"Will many ships leave in ballast?"

"A large number of them cannot do so. Others like the Kirkhill will have to leave if they want to save their charters on the other side. But whether they go before the strike ends or not a good many of them will never come back."

HON. ALEXANDER BROWN'S POSITION.

The Hon. Alexander Brown, M.L.C., who is the proprietor of the New Lambton Colliery, differs from other proprietors in his views upon coal matters. He has frequently expressed the opinion that coal could be sold at 9s, and endeavoured a few days ago to come to an agreement with the Miners' Association under circumstances already reported. Yesterday he stated that the main reason why the negotiations had failed was because he would not concede to the minimum height of the seam, as was provided in the 1888 agreement. He pointed out that the prevailing minimum height in the district was 4ft. 6in., and if he were to agree to pay extra on seams under 5ft. it would place the other mines at a disadvantage. "I will not do anything of the kind," he said. "I will place the other proprietors in a position of embarrassment, and the concession of the 4ft. 6in. minimum would render it very difficult for them to adjust matters when the strike terminated. Whilst I am willing to give the same rate per ton in consequence of any public profession that the price of coal is too low and the hewing rate proportionately so, I am not prepared to do anything that will involve injustice to my fellow colliery proprietors, no matter what pecuniary gain may be attached to the transaction. There is a stake, indeed, to which even 'colonial bishops cannot go.' That is the position I am taking up. The manager of the pit is arranging the details of my offer; but a vital principle such as that involved in increasing the minimum height I cannot, under any circumstances, concede."

"I have inquired of 25 shipmasters," added Mr. Brown, "all of whom are at present in port, and they did not hesitate to tell me that if the price of coal here was 10s their ships would have come for cargoes just the same; and they all stated that an increased price of 1s or 2s per ton would not make the slightest difference to them. So far as the 'Frisco trade is concerned, some information is given in Harrison's coal report for 1892 which is well worth quoting. In that year, when the price of coal was 9s, a very much larger quantity of coal found its way into San Francisco than in either '94 or '95, when the selling price was 7s or much less. Here are the figures:—Coal shipped from Australia to San Francisco: 1892, 314,280 tons; 1893, 202,017 tons; 1894, 91,751 tons; 1895, 209,960 tons. Supplies in California are regulated by a variety of circumstances, which at times are specially advantageous to Newcastle, by reason of its geographical position; and to-day ships are on their way from English and continental ports, giving the Welsh collieries the preference, because they can better to come to Newcastle in ballast and load coal rather than go to the English coal port. The price of coal in San Francisco is to a certain extent regulated by the British Columbia mine. The price of Wellington coal sold by Tancred Bros. is always 2s 6d or more than that of Australian, and he and Rosenfeld, with one or two other large dealers, invariably make a corner of coals to suit themselves. I have already published a correspondence, which showed conclusively that the market of San Francisco is never affected by the question of price, and the same thing may be said of all the west coast markets."

Mr. Brown further asserted that at least 75 per cent. of the colliery proprietors in the Northern district were satisfied that they could sell 80 per cent. of the coal now leaving Newcastle at 8s or 9s per ton if they could come to some agreement under which they could trust one another. "But this want of confidence between them," he added, "and the petty hostilites that characterise their daily associations, prevent the realisation of what is best not only in the interest of the shareholders but for the welfare of all those associated with our coal-mining industry."

THE ASSOCIATION'S APPEAL.

Mr. Curley, miners' general secretary, yesterday stated that the recent appeal issued by him was directed by him not only to all the unions of Australia, but to all the workmen as well. With regard to a suggestion that had been made that the miners should send representatives to Sydney to explain their position and make a personal appeal for funds, it is explained that the association has not yet considered the question. It was understood some time ago, however, that the associations was likely to adopt this course.

THE GRETA MINE.

ADDITIONAL PAY.

GRETA, Saturday.

The mining trouble has not yet affected the Greta Colliery, which is still working every day. Mr. R. Robertson, the miners' secretary, handed in 14 days' notice to the manager during the week, but Mr. Rennie, the manager, refused to accept notice from the secretary of the lodge as the miners were engaged individually. He therefore expects notice from each miner. Mr. Rennie states that he has put on 15 fresh men during the week. Mr. Curley was here on Thursday night, and sought to induce the miners to be firm and come out with their mates. The chairman of the lodge has resigned his position, which has not yet been filled. It is expected that when the notice expires some few of the men will come out, but that the majority will remain at work. Notice has been posted at the pit top that on and after the 4th May the miners will receive 20 per cent. additional pay till further notice.

BRISKNESS OF THE SOUTHERN COAL TRADE.

BULLI, Saturday.

The Woonona Colliery, which has been closed over a year, will start work again. During the week men have been engaged, and everything is ready for Monday. The South Clifton worked full time this week. The Mount Keira pay to-day was for 9½ days. The Mount Kembla's pay yesterday was for 10 days. Shipping is extremely brisk, necessitating the men working into the morning. Helensburgh reports a full pay for the fortnight ended last Saturday, and five days in this week for next pay. As yet the mine is unaffected by the Northern strike owing to fixed contracts. The Southern Coal Company despatched the Barrier with 2200 tons of coal for Melbourne. The same company is loading the Prospero and Southern Belle at Wollongong. The Adelaide S.S. Company's Alagoma will load from the Mount Kembla mine next week for 4500 tons coal. A considerable manifestation of absence of unanimity of opinion is shown by the miners on the Northern crisis. A meeting is to be held on Tuesday, when probably something definite will transpire.

WEST MAITLAND, Saturday.

The demands made by the miners employed at the East Greta Colliery have been conceded by the proprietary, and the pit will consequently continue to work steadily. Under the new scale the coal hewers will receive 9s per day, and the wheelers 6s per day. The mine has a regular trade, and is working full time.

TWO SHIPS ON FIRE.

MYSTERIOUS OUTBREAK ON THE ROSS-SHIRE.

ANOTHER BURNING COAL-LADEN SHIP TOWED INTO PORT.

Out at sea a fire is one of the most appalling experiences of the mariner. Gales, cyclonic storms, and hurricanes have no great terror for him, but to find that his home on the ocean is in the grip of a raging fire arouses within all the heroism of being engaged in a (manager), and Mr. Gilbert King (inspector), were also present, and manifested considerable interest in the day's proceedings. No less than 1273 boxes were received, and the number of visitors to the bank during the afternoon and evening was estimated at between 4000 and 5000.

The centre of attraction at the bank was an ingeniously contrived "barometer" which periodically gave the result of the day's collections compared with those of the previous year. The barometer, a fac simile of which is subjoined, was consulted by some thousands of those interested in the movement throughout the day and evening, and had the effect in no small measure of urging the ladies to increased exertions.

Total street collections, £2266 8s 7½d, exclusive of £1410 os 10½d deposited on Saturday, but collected during the past year. Grand total deposited, £3676 14s 11d.

The directors of the bank, with their accustomed hospitality, provided refreshments on the premises for the collectors, and a good proportion of the 1200 ladies engaged in the movement accepted the invitation so generously offered. Mrs. Russell French (wife of the general manager) and Mrs. Ivey (wife of the manager) acted as hostesses, and the catering was entrusted to Banmann. The rooms set apart for this purpose were open from 2 p.m. until midnight. Several photographs of the interior of the banking chamber were taken during the busiest portion of the day. A good deal of amusement was caused by the periodical visits to the bank of a splendid mastiff with a collection box around its neck. Accompanied by its owner the animal presented itself to the tellers, and quietly waited whilst the contents of the box were removed, and then resumed duty in the busy thoroughfares with the intelligence apparently of a human being.

At 10.30 p.m. Lady Hampden and the members of the vice-regal party, who had been to the theatre, paid a visit of inspection to the bank, and evinced much interest in the proceedings. Mr. Acting Justice Cohen, as well as Mr. Frank Grimley, Mr. Starkey, and other officers of the movement, received the party and conducted them round the premises. It should be mentioned that the Parramatta branch of the Bank of New South Wales was also open until a late hour to receive the collections made at Granville, Auburn, Rookwood, Bankstown, and other districts in the vicinity of the town.

THE TOTAL RECEIPTS.

Up to the present the total receipts amount to £3676 14s 11d; but to this has to be added the collections in the country, which, it is believed, will bring the final returns to nearly £4000. Compared with last year the figures are:—

THE DENOMINATION OF COINS.

The donations included 28,814 halfpennies, an increase over the previous year of 13,679: 73,818 pennies, an increase of 10,071: 55,256 threepenny pieces, an increase of 6566: 17,431 sixpenny pieces, a decrease of 1726: 9195 one shilling pieces, a decrease of 2907: 1136 florins, a decrease of 436: 921 half-crowns, a decrease of 410: 143 half-sovereigns, a decrease of 51: 160 sovereigns, a decrease of 20: 45 £1-notes, a decrease of 4: 6 £5-notes an increase of 3: and 4 £10-notes, an increase of 1.

The cheques amounted to £328, as against £165 19s 9d for last year. The increase in the number of coins was 24,160.

Almost every conceivable description of valueless coin—genuine and counterfeit—in addition to innumerable tickets and passes, were found upon the boxes being opened. Between 2000 and 3000 tram, omnibus, and ferry tickets were received, postage stamps were deposited in large quantities: and among other contributions were advertising coins, tobacco tin-tags, tops of vesta boxes, tokens, iron and tin washers, brass buttons in large quantities, soup tickets, ticket, a blackberry lower trip pass, counterfeit coins, Chinese tokens, old Britannia pennies, rupees, centimes, and a variety of foreign coin. New farthings resembling half-sovereigns were not so numerous as on previous occasions, but a good number was received. It is worthy of note, that the valueless contributions did not represent 1 per cent. of the day's collection.

AMONGST THE COLLECTORS.

To most of the ladies who assisted in the collection of funds the day was one of hard but agreeable work. The reports from nearly all the stands in the city were to the effect that nothing but good-temper and the utmost politeness were experienced at the hands of those to whom they solicited alms for contributions. But in two cases different—and one may well say dastardly—treatment was received by lady canvassers. The first of these occurred about 11 o'clock to Miss Robey, a young lady who was engaged collecting at the well-appointed residence of Mrs. Alfred Allen, which was situated at Bondi Junction, Waverley. Miss Robey had been handed a box 614, and had started on a tour of some of the streets at the back of the stand. Although she had been out only about 20 minutes, her success had attracted her efforts. Each time she returned to Ebley-street Miss Robey held out the box to two young men who were passing, and politely asked for a contribution. Her words were hardly uttered when one of the ruffians snatched the box from her hand, and both made off with their rather heavy prize. Information was at once given to the police, and a few minutes' search rewarded the officers by the discovery of the box, broken, and of course empty, in an open place near the Centennial Park. Miss Robey, though very much startled by the treatment she had been subjected to, was sufficiently self-possessed to take good notice of the thieves, and she is confident she can recognise them again.

The only other unpleasant incident that was reported, occurred to Mrs. P. Bourke, who was collecting at the stand at the corner of Pitt and Market streets, which was in the charge of Mrs. Archie Ashdown. A man came along and held out a 3d piece, making a movement as if to drop it into the collecting box—but at the same instant with his other hand he snatched at Mrs. Bourke's watch, which was fastened to the outside of the lapel of her jacket. Happily the young lady was alert enough to spring back just in time. "When speaking of it afterwards," she remarked, "I shall not forget it, but I am sorry to say I lost his threepenny-piece."

Another young lady met with a very different and a much more agreeable kind of incident. An elderly gentleman came up and said, "You look very tired, may I ask how long you have been on duty?" The lady replied that exactly 7 hours had elapsed since she had commenced collecting. The gentleman said, "Well I believe in eight hours' labour, and I am sure you have worked hard, so I'll give you a shilling an hour." And he did too. The general opinion amongst those ladies who had had the superior ex of collecting on former Hospital Saturdays was that the public were just as liberal as ever, but that they gave smaller coins—more of copper and very much less of silver. And these statements were found to be fully borne out when the coins were taken in hand to be classified. There were very few sovereigns and half-sovereigns. In fact, after the standard of threepence was reached the number of coins decreased in an enormous inverse ratio as their value increased. This, no doubt, was to be largely accounted for by the fact that people would provide themselves with small coin so that, to some extent, at all events, they might satisfy the calls they knew would be made upon their charitable feelings. But the officials looked upon this falling-off in the value of the coins given with equanimity. They rather showed that a larger amount of individual interest was taken in the movement; and as the sum total was increased they considered they had every reason to be satisfied. But the guiding principle was not confined to coin. The ladies were quite willing to take anything that was of value, and it was no unusual thing to see a stand covered with packages of tea and little bundles of tram, bus, and ferry tickets. At the Exchange stand, which was presided over by Miss Gould, the matron of the Sydney Hospital, a man came up to one of the assistant nurses and handed her a small slip of red cardboard bearing a name and number printed on one side, and written on the other the mystic words "Flying" and "Marie May." The ladies could make nothing of it, but an interpreter was soon found, who explained that it was a ticket in a sweep on the Flying Handicap that was to be run that afternoon at Warwick Farm. The nurses were also advised not to open it until the result of the race was known. Unfortunately for the hospital funds Marie May was not a winner. When Miss Gould was questioned as to her success during the day, a few heavy drops of rain had fallen, and the matron had shifted her chairinto on the corner. Before replying she removed a tray to the lee of the pillar-box that stands there, and I never appreciated the value of these pillar-boxes properly until to-day. People say they are hideous and unsightly, but I have found this one a splendid shelter from both sun and rain to-day, and I'll never say anything against them again. I think we have every reason to be satisfied with the money we have got here. The people seem to me to be giving as much as they possibly can. You see, there are so many demands upon them to-day they can go nowhere without being asked again and again for a donation. But everyone has been very pleasant and polite; even when they refuse you they have always done so in a courteous manner. Our takings have been mainly copper, but we have had a great many old contributors here, people who have been patients at the hospital or whose children or relations have been there. Some of these we know as regular contributors." Miss Gould went on to say that 44 nurses from the hospital had volunteered to give up their spare time for the day, and had worked in relays at the different stands, most of them acting as shinebiters and canvassing from shop to shop. The Chinese were found to be very liberal. They rarely gave more than 1d, but they gave a great many of those useful though unpretentious coins. Mrs. John Hughes, who presided over the stand at the corner of Pitt and Market-street, had a similarly complimentary word to say with regard to the Chinese who passed her way. She said they seemed almost anxious to give, and hardly one who came along deposited less than a couple of coppers in the boxes. Mrs. Hughes had five nurses amongst her assistants, and they were wonderfully successful in their collections. It seemed almost as if the public on observing the nurses' uniforms came to the conclusion that money given to them was nearer its ultimate destination—the hospitals. Miss Pinnes, who was stationed at the corner of Pitt and King streets, also found the public fairly liberal, but made the complaint that wasc heard at every stand, that people on Saturday threw a penny on the tables when formerly their donations would probably have taken the form of a florin or half-crown. The Mayoress (Mrs. I. E. Ives) had her table placed in front of the Town Hall, and with the aid of a large staff of assistants succeeded in arresting and resaining for hospital purposes a goodly share of the copper that was being carried down that side of the street. The stand at the Market-street corner was under the supervision of Mrs. C. T. Starkey, who said that she had found that ladies were more than usually liberal this time, and she had had to thank quite a number for their offerings, not usually very large, certainly, but given with a freedom that carried with it proof sufficient of the goodwill of the donors. This, however, was not the experience of Miss F. A. Lamb, whose stand was at the Customs-house. Although this lady's collections were satisfactorily large, it appeared that the ladies who came that way had already given all they intended to contribute, for there were not too many satisfactory responses to the solicitations that were made to them. Persons whose business or pleasure took them in the neighbourhood of Circular Quay had a very poor chance of getting out of contributing something. From as early as 5.30 a.m. there were indefatigable ladies on the lookout for anyone who came along. Among these very early birds were Mrs. Watson and her daughters. They reaped quite a little copper harvest from amongst the passengers by the early workmen's boats. Mrs. Eric Mackay, who was stationed at the North Shore ferry, also experienced a good deal of the liberality displayed by the public generally, and the experience of Mrs. R. Prendergast, at the corner of Margaret and George streets, was similar. Several of these ladies spoke in terms of high praise of the generosity of mercantile men. They said it did not seem to matter whether those whom they solicited were people who were returning to their ships, or whether they were coming ashore. Nearly all gave something. Those who were coming ashore would tender sovereigns, get them changed, and hand the collectors 5s or 10s. Those who were returning aboard, though it might have been expected that having spent the night ashore money would be pretty scarce with them, nearly always managed to rake up something for their interviewers. Mrs B. F. Marks and Mrs. Harvey, who kept the stand at the Australia Hotel, were satisfied with the amount of money that came their way, and some of their assistants stated that they had taken more money during the forenoon than during the whole day last year. Miss M'Gahey, the matron of the Prince Alfred Hospital, was stationed at the King and George street corner. Her assistant nurses found themselves frequently accosted by old patients, who evidently had reserved their subscriptions until they found the particular ladies whom they had been in the habit of visiting at this station there were also some cheques taken, one for as much as £10. Here the traffic commissioners and the police found many opportunities of being of great assistance to the collectors in enabling them to get at the passengers on the buses and other vehicles moving along that busy thoroughfare. Many cases must also be acknowledge their indebtedness to them was for the kindness and courtesy they displayed. Amongst the most successful collectors were two splendid St. Bernard dogs, Jumbo and Julius Cæsar, the property of Mr. G. A. Edwards. These two animals were stationed during the forenoon on Circular Quay, and later on at the foot of King-street. They carried handsomely-mounted barrels round their necks, into which a large number of coins were placed during the course of the day.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY EVENING.

The following sales were reported on the Sydney Stock Exchange to-day:—Newcastle Steam, 15s, with buyer at an advance of 1½d; Richardson and Wrench, 9s 6d; Shale and Oil, 3s 9d, and closing stronger. The market during the week has been fairly active for all descriptions of stock and shares. New South Wales Government debentures (due 1902) have risen to a price higher than is current in London; though this is exceptional owing to their scarcity. New South Wales Funded Stock has also risen; but at 111 it is about 3 points below inscribed stock in London, indicating that though money is plentiful here, it is still not quite so cheap for investment in such securities as in England. Bank shares generally maintain their position, New South Wales being ½ higher, and Union ½. Bank deposits also maintain their position, any offering being freely taken. Steam shares have sensibly strengthened, Newcastle and Hunter River having sold at an advance of 6d, and North Coast at 1s over the previous price. City Mutual Fire Insurance shares are a trifle dearer on the week. Gaslight shares have held their position, North Shore having risen 3d. Tooth's Brewery have jumped 1s 9d, other breweries maintaining their prices. Miscellaneous shares are in all cases as high as last week, and in some instances higher, Colonial Sugar having risen ½, Richardson and Wrench, Limited, 9d; Shale and Oil, 2d. Closing quotations were:—

The gold received into the Sydney branch of the Royal Mint for April amounted to 60,112oz., as compared with 67,994oz. in April, 1895. From New South Wales mines the quantity was 11,680oz., from Queensland 48,199oz. For the first four months of the year the weight of gold received for coinage was 230,551oz., as compared with 241,805oz. in the like period in 1895.

The statistical position of tallow in Europe for the past month cannot be said to have been a satisfactory one. It is true the imports amounted to 9140 casks only, as compared with 10,640 casks in the preceding month, but the deliveries fell away to 4160 casks against 8360 casks. In 1895 the average monthly sales of Australian tallow were 15,000 casks, and in the first four months of this year the imports and deliveries were as follows:—

	Imports.	Deliveries.	Stocks.
January	8,231	6703	45,716
February	9,408	4334	50,197
March	10,640	8360	52,480
April	9,140	4160	...

While it may be true that there are "bear" operations, the figures suggest that manufacturers must have bought so freely from the large supplies of last year that they are now able to meet their requirements with comparatively small purchases. Hence stocks in first hands still tend to accumulate. Our cable message shows that the prices are at the lowest points touched—medium mutton being worth 20s only, and medium beef 18s 6d.

The stocks of copper in England and France show a reduction for the month of 1540 tons, and for the 12 months of 15,800 tons. Within the year the price has risen £4 15s per ton. The stocks of tin on the other hand, though they have declined 360 tons in the month, have risen 5600 tons, and the price has declined £4 12s 6d per ton. Prices of both copper and tin have been affected naturally by the measure of the supply.

The additional company meetings held throughout the week have disclosed the steadiness of business as conducted by co-operative enterprise. The Colonial Sugar Refining Company shows profits equalling the amount of its usual dividend, at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, which was declared. The North Shore Ferry Company also paid a dividend at the same rate. The reduction in the rate of interest to 3 per cent. from 1st July next on deposits lodged in the Government Savings Bank, which does not apply to the Savings Bank of New South Wales, assimilates the interest to that paid on 12 months' deposits by the banks, whose rates now are as follow:—Deposits for 12 months, 3 per cent.; six months, 1½ per cent. Discount rates are: For three months' bills, 5 to 6 per cent.; 4 months, 6 to 6½ per cent. Overdrafts, 6 to 7 per cent. Exchange rates on London are quoted as follow:—

	Buying.	Selling.
On demand	Par.	25s premium
At 30 days' sight	2s 6d discount.	20s premium
60 days' sight	5s discount	15s premium
90 days' sight	10s discount	...

The rates for colonial and intercolonial exchanges are as follow:—On New South Wales, 2s per cent.; Broken Hill, ½; Wilcannia, ¼; on Queensland, as far north as Rockhampton, ¼; Townsville, ½; north of Townsville, 1; Victoria, ¼; Tasmania and South Australia, ½. Western Australia—Perth and Fremantle, ¾; Cue, Coolgardie, Kanowna, Day Dawn, and Roebourne, 1½; other parts of Western Australia, 1; New Zealand, ½ per cent.

At the annual meeting of the Bank of Australasia in London on the 26th March, Sir A. R. Scoble, in moving the adoption of the report, spoke hopefully of the prospects of the institution: 6000 new accounts had been received during the year, but a too large amount of the assets was unemployed to permit of very profitable results. There were readily available assets in specie, bullion, loans at call, and Government securities equal to 40 per cent. of the liabilities. Some of the branches had been closed, but others in Western Australia had been opened, and being necessarily expensive tended to prevent the appearance of the economies which had been effected. He thought he was justified in saying that although the six months to which the accounts published related were not uniformly and in every respect prosperous, though in point of fact some of the industries concerned suffered no inconsiderable drawbacks, yet at all events the prospect was more hopeful, and with better seasons they might certainly look for improved business, and therefore improved profits to the bank. It was very unsafe to prophesy, unless, as Abraham Lincoln used to say, you know; but at all events, as far as they did know, he thought there was no reason whatever for feeling dissatisfaction with the prospect before the bank. The report was adopted. The retiring directors, the Hon. Alban G. H. Gibbs, M.P., Mr. Martin R. Smith, and Mr. C. G. Hamilton were re-elected, as also were the auditors, Messrs. Welton, Jones, and Co.

The movements of the past week have not materially affected the features in the comparison for the year given on Tuesday last. A fall in wool followed the course of the London market in April last year.

IMPORT MARKET.

The month has opened with a very fair amount of activity, and prospects are good throughout the country. During the past week no great change has taken place in the local markets. In the markets of supply cables have advised advancing and receding figures, but in no instance was the material effect felt here.

The appended table shows the exportation of various metallic lines from the United Kingdom to Sydney and Newcastle during the periods enumerated, as compared with corresponding periods of 1895:—

—	Previously in 1896.	Previously in 1895.	3rd month, 1896.	3rd month, 1895.
Bar iron, tons	1,109	478	643	463
Hoop iron, tons	64	163	177	282
Steel iron, tons	129	45	5d	65
Plate iron, tons	327	79	109	97
Pig iron, tons	505	430	4·6	690
Galvanised iron, tons	1,593	802	868	1,546
Yellow metal, tons	61	98	31	48
Tinplates, boxes	21,061	8,916	8,712	7,075
Wire nails, tons	137	45	75	16
Wire, tons	350	287	160	93
Wire netting, tons	24	6	2	...
Quicksilver, bottles	35	56	...	20
Gunpowder, cwt.	1,857	825	443	164
Dynamite, &c., £	280	1,970	1,030	730
Cutlery, &c., £	30,800	22,800	17,200	13,200
Cement, barrels	6,850	13,950	...	5,800

The most noticeable features presented in the above comparative table are the great increase in the shipments of tinplates and the corresponding reduction of those of cement. The former is no doubt attributable to the great development in the meat-canning industry in the colony during the past few years, and the latter to the heavy importations of cheap German cements.

Sugar was without quotable change. As seen by the reduction in the bonded stocks, the Company are doing a heavy business. During the week duty was paid on 390 tons, 132 being exported. The stocks in bond now stand at 9161, thus showing a steady reduction. The Mount Hebron has arrived with 13,710 bags of sugar from Mauritius, for refining purposes. A recent number of the Philadelphia Ledger gives an interesting account of the shrinkage in the Cuban sugar crop through the rebellion on the island. To the falling-off in exportation consequent on the internal disturbing influences to a great extent are due the advanced prices asked in the world's markets. The paper says:—

What appears to be a carefully compiled review of the Cuban sugar crop shows that the total amount made up to 1st March, at which time the grinding season was half over, was 63,298 tons, as against 310,356 tons at the same time last year. Doubling this for the whole season would give 126,596 tons, while last year the estimated yield was 1,000,000 tons, showing a decrease of 87.3 per cent. Even this scanty percentage will not be realised unless Gomez can be driven out of the sugar-producing district, of which he now occupies about four-fifths, as he has given orders that no sugar shall be made. It is added that the estimate for sugar will hold good also for tobacco. The statement is made with a degree of circumstantiality that argues thorough knowledge of the situation, and it is at least partially confirmed by the action of the Sugar Trust, reported last week, in buying up vast quantities of sugar in Europe, Germany, and elsewhere. It is the most convincing argument for the success of the revolution that could be had, for it shows that the insurgents control practically all the revenue-producing sections of the island.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

There was a fair amount of business in the Mining market for a Saturday, with a run on Broken Hill North shares, which sold from 10s 4½d to 11s 6d, coming back to 11s 4d, and closing firm. North Central had a sale at 2s 9d. King Lyell, paid-up, realised 7s 2d. In gold there were several sales of Crœsus Extended at about late rates, and Sunlight brought 8s 9d, though the closing quotation hardly supported that figure. The market closed with a generally good tone.

The past week has been marked by a good extent of business, with satisfactory prices on the whole, and in some instances there were good advances. In silver, Broken Hill Proprietary did not quite maintain the opening rates, but closed firm. Junction North, after fluctuating sales, were quoted lower. A good extent of business transpired in Broken Hill North, which were higher at the close. King Lyell opened with sales at 5s 6d, and had fluctuating business to 7s 5d, then as low as 6s 3d, and up to 7s. Block 10 were weaker at the close owing to disappointment in not getting the new machinery into full operation. Comet and Trilby were firm. Several new ventures were dealt in to a good extent. In gold Great Boulder were strong, selling at the advanced price of £9 5s. Ivanhoe did not support its opening sale, closing lower. The Sunlight group were in better favour, Sunlight West having numerous sales, showing a good improvement at the close. Sunlight realised from 5s 6d to 8s 9d. A number of other stocks were dealt in. The following sales indicate the changes that have taken place in values during the week:—Copper: Great Cobar, 29s 6d. There were no transactions in coal-mining shares. Bellambi, which was reported in last week's summary as having had a sale during the previous week at 60s, was wrongly credited. It should have been Hetton. AUCKLAND, Sunday.

In the Kapanga gold-mine at Coromandel a gold-bearing reef has been struck at a depth of 600ft. This is the greatest depth at which gold has yet been found in New Zealand.

BROKEN HILL, Sunday.

Block 14 mill last week treated 1973 tons crude sulphides and carbonates, producing 697 tons concentrates and slimes. The breaking of the stonecracker materially interfered with the week's run. The despatches for Port Adelaide were again very high, totalling 1094 tons, including 127 tons first and 70 tons third grade concentrates for shipment to Europe. Underground operations are without change. The requisite supply of sulphides for milling purposes is obtained from the 200ft. and 300ft. levels in the western branch. The stoping of carbonates is proceeding without variation in the far north and eastern sections. In the British main workings only a few men are temporarily employed, the object being to expose ore at various points for extensive operations when needed. The new mill is so far advanced that a number of carpenters and labourers have been discharged. Its completion, however, is much hampered through the delay of the contractors in forwarding certain necessary machinery. Preparations are being made for lighting the mill and mine by electricity. The north mill, through certain alterations to the jiggers, ran short time last week, only treating 220 tons crude for 63 tons first quality concentrates. The prospects in the west crosscut, which has reached 85ft. from the main shaft at the 500ft. level, are cheering. After passing a considerable distance through a tough mineralised lode formation sulphides were met with of a compact mixed nature, which now covers the full face of the crosscut. Until the vein has been broken into it is impossible to hazard an opinion of what is ahead; but Captain Paul, the manager, is pleased with the prospects. The far north drive at the 400ft. level has reached 153ft. from the main crosscut, carrying a full face of excellent milling sulphides. The lode at this point looks specially strong. The stopes in the 300ft. and 400ft. levels are unchanged. The requisite quantity of milling ore is readily broken.

GYMPIE, Saturday.

Mr. Thomas Smith reports that the Phœnix No. 1 North crushed 400 tons for a yield of 389oz. gold. A dividend of 6d per share will be payable on Tuesday. Sales:—Oriental Glanmire, 1s 1d; Great Eastern No. 1 North, 1s 6d, 1s 5½d; Great Eastern No 1 South, 11d; Great Eastern No. 2 South, 9d; Phœnix No. 3 North, 1s 4½d; Phœnix No. 1 South, 1s 1d; Smithfield Tribute, 8½d. To-night's quotations:—Columbia Smithfield, seller 12s 9d, buyer 12s 7d; New Zealand No. 1 North, seller 4s 1d, buyer 3s 11d; South Glanmire and Monkland, seller 2s 1d, buyer 2s; North Smithfield, seller 24s 6d, buyer 20s.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The principal feature of the morning on the Stock Exchange yesterday was the large exchange of Broken Hill silver companies' shares. Among these North Broken had the most numerous sales, some 3300 changing hands at the first meeting alone, and prices rising to 10s 3d prior to the call-room meeting, and to 12s 1½d at the close. There are excellent prospects from the crosscut at the 500ft. level, the sulphides showing in the face, and the ore in the 400ft. level is of a more friable nature. The principal fluctuation in value was Block 10, which were pressed from 77s down to 75s, recovering to 76s during the first meeting (over 700 shares changing hands), and came afterwards into strong demand at rising prices till 82s was paid. Broken Hill Proprietary shares were largely dealt in, but at falling prices, sales ranging from 50s 6d to 49s. Junction sold from 70s 6d to 71s. South Broken, contributing, 12s 3d; North Junction, 28s 3d, 28s 6d. Tasmanian companies had numerous transactions, the most prominent being a further rise in Comet to 14s 9d on a report that the lode had been cut. (A strong rush of water prevented any test of the reef.) Further advanced prices also ruled for Mount Lyell Pioneer, which sold up to 102s. King Lyell (paid) sold at 6s 6d; Mount Lyell, £6 0s 6d; Mount Lyell Consols, paid, 7s; North King Lyell, 70s. Of gold companies, Maritana was the only Western Australian one with reported business, shares changing hands at 17s 3d and 17s 9d; but transactions in Victorian companies were numerous and of good extent. The principal sales were—Berry Consols Extended, 41s 6d; Black Horse, further advanced prices, 14s 9d; Central Plateau, 22s 3d, 21s 9d; South Star, 40s 6d, 41s; Star of the East, 23s 6d, 24s 3d; Chalk's Freehold, 12s 9d, 13s; Chalk's No. 3, 23s 1½d; Great Southern (this line in much-improved demand owing to further decreased pressure of water), 45s, 48s; Great Southern and Chiltern, 3s 6d, 4s; Great Southern Consols, 3s 6d, 4s 1d; ditto, paid, 12s, 12s 9d; North Prentice, 25s; Prentice Freehold, 21s 3d; Londonderry, £11 15s; New Prince of Wales, 15s 9d; Shenandoah (further recovered prices), 20s 6d, 21s.

OBERON, Saturday.

A quarter share in Higgins and party's pyrites mine has been sold for £50. Thompson and party are getting good gold at Black Bullock Mountain, and are washing rubble from a gossan lode for 1oz. to the load sometimes. Other parties have found gold in the country rock, but no definite reef has yet been met with.

WEST WYALONG, Saturday.

The Star of Peace party has just crushed 24 tons seconds to test the value of that class of stone at Nicholas and Reymond's battery. It yielded the gratifying return of 11oz. 5dwts. 3gr. gold gross, and another lot is now going under the stamps at this battery. Conway and party are commencing the crushing of a parcel from the Shamrock claim at the same mill. A new main shaft west of the old working is now being put down on the Brilliant claim, the intention of the shareholders being to go 200ft. before opening out. Energetic work is being accomplished on Neild's prospecting area. The new main shaft measured 12ft. by 4ft., and is subdivided into three sections. When the 100ft. depth is attained, they will drive to cut the old workings for ventilating purposes, and at 200ft. it is proposed to open out to cut the reef, when stoping will be resumed. The tributers on this property are driving at about 180ft., where the reef runs from 24in. to 28in., carrying both free gold and mineral. 120 tons has been grassed, and will be crushed at Gough's No. 2 battery probably next week. Bolte and party are on rich mineral at 230ft. depth, while the adjoining claim, owned by Johnson and party, are on splendid mineral at 200ft., where the reef formation measures 4ft., giving indications of forming into a solid body of mineral with greater depth. The Prince of Wales party have cut a 12in. reef carrying rich gold and mineral at 220ft.; but, owing to the heavy inflow of water, they cannot, with the present appliances, utilise the discovery. A shaft will be sunk to 300ft. Meanwhile stoping in southern workings will be carried on. Dunn and party, who sent five tons of stone to Footscray, had a return of 7oz. per ton. This stone was procured from the 100ft. level in the Ante Up Claim. The Welcome Stranger to-day despatched an additional parcel of six tons crude ore to the Clyde works. The Homeward Bound (Brierly and party) also sent a similar quantity. Klink and party are forwarding the same amount. A parcel containing 4½ tons concentrates has been despatched by Dunn and party. Many other lots are being sent from the various claims.

MANAGERS' REPORTS.

Star Lead Syndicate, Gulgong, May 2.—On Thursday last, 30th ultimo, we made a second jump up, 60ft. (east) ahead of the first rise in the main tunnel, which is now in about 600ft., and struck washdirt 6ft. over roof of drive. The dirt still continues its dip eastwards, with a fall of about 8ft. between the depth of wash in the two rises. The washdirt in the new rise prospects better than anything yet struck, and there is an immense body of wash now proved to exist in the mine. The gutter, or deep ground, is evidently to the eastward. We have proved the lead so far to be nearly 90ft. wide. Still in the western reef, not having yet reached the gutter.

The Broken Hill Proprietary Block 10 Company, Limited, April 30 (by wire).—Have not got plant in full swing yet. Keys in crusher rollers worked loose; will have to be taken out and keyed afresh.

The Queen Margaret Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Kalgoorlie, April 17.—Vertical shaft, 100ft. level: North drive advanced 14½ft., total from crosscut 200ft.; winze sunk 14½ft., total from collar 30ft. Underlie shaft, intermediate level: North drive extended 6ft., total from shaft 65ft. Air shaft: Sunk for week 6ft., total from surface 121ft.

The Ivanhoe Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Kalgoorlie, April 14.—Wired on 14th April.—Crushed 230 tons for 464oz. Stone treated came from north level and stopes in No. 5 shaft. Stopes show from 8ft. to 9ft. stone good quality. By wire, April 28: Average width of lode in south stope, No. 5 shaft, 15ft., and looking well. New shaft on eastern lode sunk 9ft.; timbered up 15ft.; lode 4ft., and has improved in quality. Main shaft centred down to water level, and pumps will be put in position as soon as possible.

The Lady Bountiful Gold-mining Company, Black Flag, W.A., April 1.—The main shaft has been sunk a further depth of 5ft., making a total of 101ft. The ore sunk through is excellent battery ore, which shows fine gold freely. Middle shaft still looking well. Have extended the eastern drive on the reef 4ft., making 13½ft. from crosscut. The west drive on the reef has also been extended 4ft., making 13½ft. from crosscut. The ore dump is getting very big now at this shaft, fine gold showing freely.

The Golconda Gold-mining Company, No Liability, Parkes, May 1.—Have sunk the shaft to a depth of 90ft., and have driven in on the north end 13ft. on a well-defined vein from 3in. to 6in. in thickness. We washed two prospects, and obtained a fair show of gold in each, which goes to show that the gold is still going down. We have also driven in on the south-east end 9ft. We have not broken any portion of the reef from where the rich gold was taken. From one of the reefs struck in trenching the orchard we obtained a good prospect yesterday. It is a well-defined vein of between 3in. and 4in., and underlying about 1ft. in 10ft. north-east.

The Birthday Gold-mining and Quartz-crushing Company, No Liability, Parkes, May 1.—The contractors at the main shaft have finished their contract, and the shaft is now down 100ft., timbered and centred. During the last few days the men have been erecting a whip, lagging the shaft higher, &c. Have started two shifts sinking in the shaft on wages this morning. The bottom is a bit harder. In consequence of being short-handed, I have not had an opportunity of doing anything to the new reef. The contractors in the dam are making good progress.

TO PARENTS.—The preparation is invaluable in the nursery as a general laxative. It is pleasant to the taste, and much superior to senna and other nauseous drugs. It corrects the ill effects of over-eating or exhaustion, and is extremely beneficial in any feverishness or heat of the skin. The bowels ought to be kept free by the "Fruit Salt" for a month or six weeks after eruptive diseases, as measles, scarlet fever, and all fevers or infectious diseases, &c., for its use frees the system of the drugs. Many disastrous results would be avoided by attending to this. Caution: Legal rights are protected in every civilised country. Examine each bottle, and see that the capsule is marked "Eno's Fruit Salt." Without it you have been imposed upon by a worthless imitation. Sold by all chemists. Prepared only at Eno's "Fruit Salt" Works, Pomeroy-street, New Cross-road, London, England, by J. C. Eno's patent.—[ADVT.]

A SPOTLESS COMPLEXION.—Sulpholine Lotion clears off all imperfections in a few days—Spots, Blemishes, Irritating Redness, Uncomfortable Skin Disfigurements. Shilling bottles.—[ADVT.]

MR. CARRUTHERS AT JAMBEROO.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

KIAMA, Saturday.

The Hon. J. H. Carruthers, Minister for Lands, last night delivered an interesting lecture to a large and appreciative audience in the School of Arts, Jamberoo, on the subject of "Schools of Arts," after which he was entertained at a banquet, presided over by Mr. C. W. Craig, Mayor of Jamberoo. The toasts usual for such occasions were proposed and duly honoured. This morning Mr. Carruthers, accompanied by a large number of leading residents of the district, visited the falls at the head of the Minnamurra Rivulet, where a picnic took place, followed by the ceremony of naming the falls. In the course of a short address the Minister said he had visited most of the beauty spots of New South Wales, but he had seen nothing to equal the spot in which they were assembled, and he concluded by naming it the Minnamurra Falls. Short addresses were delivered by Mr. C. W. Craig, the Rev. B. Stephens, Mr. John James, president Kiama Agricultural Association, and others, who urged upon the Minister the advisability of resuming some of the land in the locality so as to preserve the magnificent timber and foliage, and to provide a road to give access to the falls.

MR. GARRARD IN THE COUNTRY.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

STROUD, Sunday.

Mr. Garrard, Minister for Public Instruction, and Messrs. Price and Kelly, Ms.L.A., and others on tour were banqueted at Monkerai and Dungog at the opening of the Barnes's Creek Bridge. The Minister for Public Instruction and the member for the district, Mr. R. Atkinson Price, and Mr. Kelly, M.L.A., left Gloucester on Friday morning at 6 o'clock and proceeded to Monkerai, some distance from which place they were met by a cavalcade of horsemen and escorted into the settlement. Floral arches had been erected bearing the words "Welcome to our member and company," and the place was gay with bunting and floral decorations. There was an immense concourse of people present. The younger ones enjoyed themselves by playing various games. The party sat down to a delightful banquet, Mr. Titcome presided, having the members on his right and left. The hall was artistically decorated with flowers and foliage, and the effect produced was very pleasing. The school children sang very prettily a song of welcome. Mr. Fell proposed "Our Guests" and said that he was pleased to see the Minister present and the member for the district and others. He hoped it would not be the last time that they would meet them at Monkerai. The member for the district, Mr. R. A. Price, was deservedly popular, and his constituents would always be delighted to see him amongst them. The toast was drunk amidst great enthusiasm.

Messrs. Garrard, Price, and Kelly, Ms.L.A., responded, after which the Minister held a conference with the Church and School Land tenants, in reference to the draft Amending Church and School Lands Bill.

Mr. R. A. Price, M.L.A., who introduced the deputation, pointed out that a considerable amount of improvements had been effected on the estate, and that it was only fair that tenant-rights should be given to the persons at present on the land, and that the appraisement should be based on the value of the land irrespective of the tenants' improvements. The fencing clauses were also dealt with, and the clauses dealing with the impounding and trespassing of stock; also the question of timber licenses. An informal discussion took place between the Minister and the tenants. Mr. Garrard, in reply, stated that that he was desirous of passing a measure which would meet with the approval of all classes, and be fair both to the State and the tenants. He would look into the matter submitted to him, and do what he considered right. He was pleased that he had visited the estate, as he would be in a much better position to deal with the question in the light of the experience he had gained. He thanked the people for their kindness.

The party left for Dungog shortly afterwards, accompanied by several horsemen. The road being in a very bad condition the buggies nearly came to grief several times as the gullies were being negotiated. Upon arrival at Dungog the party was entertained at a very elaborate banquet. The Mayor (Mr. F. Hooke) presided. There was a considerable number present. The toast of "Our Guests" was proposed by Mr. F. Garstang, P.M., and responded to by Messrs. Garrard, R. A. Price, H. H. Brown, and Kelly, Ms.L.A., and Messrs. Browning, A. L. Adam, Dr. Finlay, G. L. Andrews, and C. P. Thomas. Other toasts followed, and the banquet concluded about 12 o'clock. The party divided at Dungog. Messrs. Garrard, Brown, and Kelly, and Messrs. Adams and Browning left for Clarence Town to proceed to Newcastle by the Government steamer on Saturday morning. The member for Gloucester, Mr. R. A. Price, drove to the Barnes Creek Bridge, on the Dungog-road, for the purpose of christening and opening the new bridge.

MR. A. B. PIDDINGTON, M.L.A., BEFORE HIS CONSTITUENTS.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

TAMWORTH, Saturday.

Mr. A. B. Piddington, M.L.A., addressed his constituents last night. He made elaborate replies to the speeches of Messrs. Lyne, O'Sullivan, Chanter, and Price on their visit a fortnight previously, and argued that freetrade was the best policy for all classes, and that the farmers being a small minority, had no right to expect duties on foodstuffs to the detriment of the entire community. He said that farming in this country was not as scientific as it might be. This must be improved. The farmer needed freedom of commerce, in order to obtain cheap implements and the destruction of land monopoly, which had caused so much misery in England and America. He said that he came before his constituents last election mainly on the issue of Upper House reform, but the Premier said no such measure could be introduced this session. He would support such a measure when introduced, but he could not be held responsible if the Premier in the order of public business did not bring in such a bill. A quantity of very useful domestic legislation was to be introduced during the coming session, which he would support. He referred to woman suffrage, now in active operation in South Australia. He was a thorough believer in it, and would vote for its introduction, which would not be much longer delayed. Mr. Piddington, who received a good hearing, paid a high tribute to the service of Sir Henry Parkes, especially to the cause of public instruction.

A deputation waited on Mr. Piddington, M.L.A., this morning, and requested him to oppose the bill for the Tamworth water supply, on the ground that it was not wanted, that the ratepayers could not afford the additional taxation, and that two-thirds of the ratepayers were opposed to it. Mr. Piddington replied that he would go carefully into the matter, but the Public Works Committee had made inquiries on the spot, and had recommended that the work be carried out. He thought the council was committed to some scheme of water supply, and it was narrowed down to a pumping scheme, with a doubtful quality of water, and a gravitation scheme with good water. He declined to pledge himself in the matter, but said that nothing was more important for the public health than pure water, and the contingency of possible fires must also be considered.

THE DIOCESE OF GRAFTON AND ARMIDALE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

GRAFTON, Saturday.

The Anglican Synod has been sitting since Thursday. The Rev. G. Souter, of Moree, was elected clerical secretary, and Mr. C. R. Bluxland chairman of committees. After the first reading of a number of bills the synod, on the motion of Archdeacon Flower, placed on record its sense of the great loss sustained by the decease of Mr. C. N. Stephens, of Harwood, and ordered a letter of condolence to be sent to Mrs. Stephens and family. A number of members testified to the services rendered to the Church by the deceased. A motion was carried congratulating the president on the arrival of the second anniversary of his consecration as Bishop. In reply, the Bishop said this tribute of affection touched him deeply. He had done his best, and would continue to do so, and ardently desired that the tie of affection should more and more bind him to the members of his Church.

The Archdeacon of Grafton moved the second reading of the Cathedral Bill. This was seconded by the Archdeacon of Armidale and supported by the Archdeacon of Tamworth. The bill is still under discussion. The Synodal Elections Bill was passed through all its stages.

CHIPPENDALE WESLEYAN CHURCH.

The anniversary of the Wesley Church (Chippendale), Redfern, was celebrated yesterday by special services. In the morning the Rev. W. G. Taylor, president of the Wesleyan Conference, occupied the pulpit, and preached to a large congregation. In the afternoon an address was delivered to the Sunday school by the Rev. Joseph Woodhouse, when a programme of music was rendered by the school children and church choir, under the direction of Mr. J. Sharlock. The church, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion, was filled. In the evening the pulpit was again occupied by the Rev. W. G. Taylor.

THE PROTECTIONIST PARTY.

MR. LYNE AT JUNEE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

JUNEE, Sunday.

Messrs. Lyne, O'Sullivan, Perry, and Gormly, Ms.L.A., were welcomed on their arrival by the Mayor (Mr. T. C. Humphreys) on behalf of the council and the ratepayers. Their healths were subsequently proposed by the Mayor. Last night the members of the party addressed an overcrowded meeting in the Assembly Hall, the Mayor presiding. The leading residents of the Murrumbidgee, Gundagai, and Wagga electorates were on the platform.

Mr. Lyne said that during his tour in the north he had been received with cordiality and enthusiasm never before extended to a political party. The Dibbs tariff was not scientific, being imposed for revenue purposes, and the protection offered was merely incidental. He did not believe in ad valorem duties, preferring fixed duties. The primary reason for the imposition of the Dibbs duties was that their predecessor left them liabilities of £5,000,000, and there was not one copper wherewith to pay the interest on the debt, which had been paid by loans raised in England until 1891 or 1892, when they found they could borrow no more except at high interest. He ridiculed the Premier's statement to an Argus reporter to the effect that no industry in New South Wales had suffered from freetrade. He gave Hudson Brothers as an instance. While admitting that they had been in difficulties for some time Mr. Henry Hudson stated that the works would have had to close some time ago had not he (Mr. Lyne) limited the tenders for the Ocean-street engines to the colony, which Hudson Brothers got. He also referred to the cement works and the Lithgow potteries as examples of the effects of the new policy, Mr. Reid having had the courage of his opinions, and imposed freetrade pure and simple. This many freetraders did not want. As the result of the policy the workers had lost £2,000,000 in four months. He warned the railway employees that the policy was affecting the prosperity of the lines, which was decreasing, while that of the United States increased by 63 per cent. He highly approved of the action of the Railway Commissioners in imposing an increase of 20 per cent. on the carriage of foreign produce into the country. He found there was a great revulsion of feeling, which Mr. Reid would find next election. He challenged him to come to the country at once.

Messrs. Gormly, O'Sullivan, Fitzpatrick, and Perry also spoke, the latter dwelling on the effects of Mr. Reid's policy upon the sugar industry. He charged the Premier with endeavouring to sow dissension between labour and capital during his trip to the Richmond River. Anyone doing so was an enemy to labour. He warned the railway employees that they must be prepared to have the competition caused by engineers and others being thrown out of employment by the closing of the sugar works.

A vote of thanks to the speaker was proposed by Mr. Patrick Heffernan, of Milbank Estate, seconded by Alderman Blatch, and carried with acclamation.

The party was subsequently entertained at a banquet. The Mayor presided, and stated that should a Ministerial party come to Junee to answer their guests they would be treated with the same courtesy.

GAS-COOKING DEMONSTRATIONS.
SCHOOL OF ARTS, PITT-STREET,
WEDNESDAY, 6th MAY, 2.30 p.m.
RALEIGH'S NEW PARAGON.
COOKING WITHOUT GAS.
This, the latest novelty in the new "Paragon," will be practically proved and fully explained.
A CRUSHER FOR ENGLISH GAS STOVES.
In addition to the ordinary cooking demonstration, M. Raleigh will take a ring from an English Gas Stove, and with it roast a joint and boil vegetables in four vessels at the same time in the "Paragon." This crushing evidence of the ruinous extravagance of English Stoves was clearly proved before a crowded audience last Wednesday, and the expressions of astonishment were such as any inventor might well feel proud of. I don't know how those visitors who had the good fortune to invest in English Stoves felt, but I can imagine a lady using one on her return home cremating the cat or sitting on her husband's Sunday hat.
APPEAL TO PERSONS USING ENGLISH STOVES.
In the name of common sense, call at the School of Arts next Wednesday, and have your eyes opened.
ADMISSION FREE.
M. RALEIGH, 201 Elizabeth-street.
